Widow of Veteran, War of 1812, Says That She Has Taken Black-Draught for Twenty Years

Americus, Ga.—Mrs. Cornelia H. Clifton, who lives near here, is 84 years old but keeps house for herself and has active charge of the management of her farm. She is the widow of Dr. Thomas Clifton, who fought with the Virginia militia in the War of 1812, and she draws a pension from the government for that reason.

Mrs. Clifton, according to her statement, has had a long experience with Black-Draught.

"I have been taking Black-Draught constantly for the last twenty years," says Mrs. Clifton, "and I find that it is the best relief for constipation that I can use."

"For over twenty years I have known about this splendid medicine. A neighbor of mine recommended it to me that long ago and I have taken it when I needed anything of the kind ever since."

"For the last two or three years I have been troubled frequently with constipation and . . . complaints and when these troubles come on, I take Black-Draught. I keep a box of Black-Draught always in the house. We are never without it."

Millions use Black-Draught. If your supply is running low, get more from your druggist today.

BIG STRIKE IN RUHR PERILS DEBT PLAN

BERLIN, May 8.—The strike and lockout in the Ruhr was effective practically throughout the entire industrial basin, according to reports here today, and threatened to endanger prospects of a reparations settlement if it continued.

Practically all mines were idle today, dispatches said.

Although the initiative was taken by the operators, who locked out thousands of men who declined to accept an eight hour day for underground work, Communist miners immediately countered by declaring a general strike in the Ruhr. Their funds are short and their resistance to pressure by the industrialists weakened accordingly.

Some Germans profess to see Russian influence in the Communist strike, harking back to the incident at the trade delegation headquarters in Berlin when a Russian prisoner was taken by police. There are also reports that many miners are becoming ugly.

Miners in Silesia and Saxony are reported considering sympathy strikes.

Mining is tied up from Hamm to Duisburg.

Deliberies under the "Mein" agreement between French and German industrialists are threatened. The former threaten to confiscate mines unless production is maintained.

If new confiscations are made, the reparations settlement manifestly will be badly influenced. The Socialists warn that continuance might even endanger seriously the reparations conclusion.

SANITY TEST SAVES MAN FROM GALLOWES

SAN QUENTIN PENITENTIARY, May 8.—Mariano Casarez, 69, will go to the gallows alone at 10 a. m. tomorrow for the murder of Mike Fornasero in Imperial county in January, 1923.

Alviro Mendez, 40, who was condemned to die with Casarez for complicity in the killing, was adjudged insane by a Marin county superior court yesterday and today was enjoying life in the Napa state hospital.

Mendez suffered hallucinations that someone was trying to poison him.

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 8.—The planet Mercury's ramble across the face of the sun, visible in California for eight hours yesterday, was a "success," scientists of Lick Observatory and Santa Clara University announced today.

The phenomenon was not visible to the naked eye, but several telescopic pictures were taken. The plates reveal Mercury as a mere pin point on the face of Old Sol.

Tourist Travel to Cal. Shows Gain

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—Although the general operating revenue of the Santa Fe for March and also for the three months of this year showed a decline, compared with the same period last year, the financial report placed last year, the western territory traversed by the company and designated as the coast lines on the commercial map as the "white spot."

Tourist travel over the coast lines showed a substantial increase over both March and the first three months of the year, compared with the corresponding period last year, declared James B. Duffy, general passenger agent. The freight business for the same period this year showed only a small falling off, regardless of the fact that the conditions have not been as good, generally speaking, as during the first part of the shipping season in 1923.

Another good indication shown by the report is the large increase in the express business of the Santa Fe during March. The mail business also showed an increase, all of which is regarded as signifying a good year.

WILL REBUILD DOCKS RAZED BY FLAMES

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Men are at work today clearing away the four blocks of wreckage along the Sacramento river waterfront, the remains of the Southern Pacific wharves which burned yesterday in the fire that raged for four hours.

Immediate steps, officials say, are being taken to rebuild the docks and sheds. Meanwhile arrangements have been made with Western Pacific officials for the Southern Pacific river boats to dock at their wharves at the foot of O and P streets.

C. E. Spear, district freight and passenger agent, estimated the value of the sheds at $270,000 and the contents at $80,000.

An investigation into the cause of the fire is being conducted today by Fire Chief M. Murphy and Tom Moore, special agent of the Southern Pacific. It is known that the flames started when a cask of gasoline exploded in the K street wharf. The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

CUPID BUSY AMONG U. OF C. CO-EDS

(By United Press Leased Wire) BERKELEY, May 8.—Cupid has spent a busy year on the University of California campus and commencement for many co-ed members of the senior class will mean forsaking any probable chance for a comfortable spinsterhood.

Twenty-nine candles will decorate the banquet table when the senior women gather for their last "blowout" preceding graduation.

The custom is for the women to announce their engagements at this affair and a candle is placed beside the plate of each.

Many of the weddings are scheduled for June.

STRIKE TO DEFEAT PENSION LAW ENDS

(By United Press Leased Wire) BUENOS AIRES, May 8.—Work was being resumed throughout the Argentine republic today following a week's general strike against the national pensions law, which would pension all B. workers who have labored continuously in the country for 25 years.

The strike was called off in all cities by the National Syndical union after police had acceded to the union's demand to release all persons arrested in connection with the cessation of labor.

Employers also generally called off their lockout and the entire nation was returning to normal. President Alvear has virtually promised the labor and employers organizations that the law will be modified to meet their approval.

be planes that the common people can buy and operate, he said the time in which that situation might obtain would depend largely on when individual cities interest themselves in establishing airports.

"If Santa Ana should build such a port here, it would avail itself of the opportunity for development of business that at the present time is not regarded as pertinent to local merchants," Martin said. "Good terminals are valuable to any city."

Members of the club yesterday bought more than 200 tickets for the typhoid fund benefit entertainment to be given at the high school auditorium on the evening of May 13 under the auspices of the city federation of parent-teacher associations.

Prior to the appearance of Mrs. J. W. Estes and Mrs. H. H. Dale for the purpose of selling tickets to members, a collection of $52.56 had been taken for the purpose of buying tickets.

E. J. Williams, manager of the Standard American Glass company, now engaged in the preliminary work of establishing a glass factory here, was introduced to the club.

"We were about to establish our plant elsewhere when some of your progressive citizens got in touch with us and induced us to locate here," said Williams. "I am glad to be in Santa Ana and it will be the purpose of my company to add in any way we can to the general development of the city."

Herbert Davis and W. G. Knox composed the program committee, with Davis acting as chairman.

Wife Plea Fails
In Liquor Arrest
Declared to have attempted last night to deliver five gallons of moonshine in his automobile while accompanied by his wife, according to a report at police headquarters, J. L. Bowman, 28, of Costa Mesa was arrested in Santa Ana at First and Bristol streets by Officers Earl Lentz and Robert Elliott.

Despite the pleas of the young wife, the officers placed Bowman in the county jail and charged him with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquor.

An English artist owns a cat which will not enter the house by the back door. It always walks up to the front door, which has a knocker at a convenient height, gives one or two knocks, and then waits for the door to be opened. WORN-OUT?
That tired, worn-out feeling—that lack of energy and ambition—that nervous run down state—are all pretty certain indications that your blood is getting thin and pale.

Without rich red blood, neither your body nor brain can work right and as a result you don't seem to get anywhere in anything you attempt.

This is the time of year when you should build up increased strength, vitality and power of resistance against disease, by getting more iron into your blood. But to take the ordinary metallic forms of iron may prove worse than useless. What you need is the newer form of iron—organic iron like the natural iron in your blood—which is now prepared in simple, easy-to-take tablets called Nuxated Iron.

If you feel tired in the morning, restless at night, if you suffer from weakness or lack of vitality simply try taking two Nuxated Iron Tablets with each meal for two weeks. You will note the amazing change in your health, vigor, energy and endurance. You should be astonished at the results even in a few days time. Satisfaction is guaranteed or the druggist will refund your money—adv.

LAW BATTLE ON REALTY TRADE CONTINUES
Albert Fuller, local walnut grower, today completed his testimony in Superior Judge F. C. Drumm's court here, where the trial of his suit against Ray Lambert, Irvine farmer, and Lambert's brothers-in-law, George C. Wells and Glen Wells, began yesterday.

Fuller, who seeks recision of a contract by which he exchanged a valuable walnut grove in this city for oil land at Huntington Beach, began giving his testimony yesterday. When he left the stand today after a lengthy cross-examination by defense counsel, the plaintiff's case rested.

Fuller, in his testimony, reviewed details of the property exchange in March, 1923, and declared that the oil land had been grossly misrepresented as of great value. It proved to be virtually worthless, he testified, in effect.

Attorneys H. C. Head and Clyde Bishop, representing the defense, questioned Fuller as to the time he discovered that his new property was, as he claimed, misrepresented. In a statement to the court, Attorney Head said the object of the question was to show that Fuller was at first well satisfied with the transaction he had made, but when the oil market slumped several months after the bargain was made, Fuller became dissatisfied and sought to withdraw from the deal transaction.

The special venire summoned for selection of a jury was dismissed yesterday by Judge Drumm when the defense objected to the empaneling of a jury on the ground that no demand had been made by the plaintiff for a jury within the legally required time. Consequently the trial proceeded before the court.

Trial of William Duncan, Tustin rancher who is charged with perjury, today was postponed to May 21 in Superior Judge F. C. Drumm's court here.

The trial had been set for today at 10 a. m. but the court was occupied with another case.

Duncan is charged in connection with testimony he is alleged to have given in his own defense at a previous trial in the superior court, where Attorneys James L. Allen and James L. Davis were suing Duncan for a fee.

'Radio Thief' In Raid on 3 Tubes

FACTORY HEAD JAILED AS TWO BOYS DRINK

Accused of giving intoxicating liquor to minors, and formally charged with possession of intoxicants, according to State Motorcycle Officer Louis Heffner, an asserted Eastern manufacturer who gave the name of R. L. Mitchell, and then signed "Otto" Mitchell on the jail record, today was behind the bars here worrying about a considerable sum of money which had been taken from him by Jailer Orin Moncrief.

While searching the prisoner, the jailer took $112 in currency and six checks totaling more than $1100 from Mitchell. Four of the checks were issued by the Mitchell and Mitchell Manufacturing company of Fort Smith, Ark., of which firm the arrested man claims to be a member.

Mitchell was arrested yesterday while motoring north of San Juan Capistrano. The two boys, 17 and 19 years old, who were riding with him, also were taken to the county jail by Motorcycle Officers Louis Heffner and "Jimmy" Matthews, who said Constable W. Callis of San Juan Capistrano had made the arrests.

According to the story told by the officers, Mitchell offered the boys a ride when he saw them walking near their home in San Juan Capistrano. After the trio were apparently alone on the highway, it is said, the autoist passed around a bottle of liquor. One of the boys was drunk when confined, according to Jailer Moncrief.

Two residence properties at Laguna Beach and two others at Arch Beach, together with twenty-one paintings in oil and water colors made up the estate. The collection of paintings was valued at $7,500.

Two brothers, Charles Griffith of Dayton, O., and Armand Griffith of Santa Barbara, and three sisters, Mrs. Ida G. Wallace of Buffalo, N. Y., and the Misses Georgiana and Jennie Griffith, both of Santa Barbara, are heirs to the estate.

HEALTH TALK NO. 15
By Dr. J. G. Kelly, D. C.

If you are sick, you may be sure there is something wrong with your spine. No person with a perfectly normal spine can suffer with sickness. This is a broad statement but I stand ready to support it with convincing proof.

As a Chiropractor, I say the CAUSE of disease is pressure on spinal nerves—mechanical interference with the flow of the necessary nerve force. As a Chiropractor, I am able to correct this nerve pressure, and once the CAUSE is removed, health is the inevitable result.

If you are not enjoying perfect health, there are two reasons why you should be interested in my claims, namely, because no one has successfully disputed them, and because the testimony of my patients proves them true.

My patients recover their health, because I understand Chiropractic thoroughly, because I believe in it implicitly, and because I have had the training and experience to practice it successfully.

Consultation and spinal analysis is free and places you under no obligations whatever. I will be glad to explain why Chiropractic is acknowledged to be the modern way—the BETTER way to health.

Pays $4.70 on $5 Traffic Fine To Obtain Freedom

Because he said he was unable to pay a $5 fine for parking his automobile overtime in the two-hour zone, J. L. Bowman succeeded in "getting off" with a payment of $4.70 to City Recorder W. F. Heathman, according to today's police court records.

Other traffic violators booked by Heathman were George T. Heacock, $15 fine for speeding; Fred T. Newport, $5 for parking overtime; Tev Eshan, $10 for driving with no muffler; H. Graves, $5 for having no tail light; Albert F. Walther, $2 for parking downtown between 2 and 5 a. m.; W. E. Noble and P. B. Fry were fined $2 each for parking in the restricted district.

Frank Melton and W. P. Lathan were assessed $15 each for "taking all the sidewalk" at Sixth and Broadway on election night, and James Yost, another asserted drunk, paid Heathman $15 for sleeping on a bench in a downtown apartment house.

HIRAM TELEGRAPHS THANKS TO FRIENDS

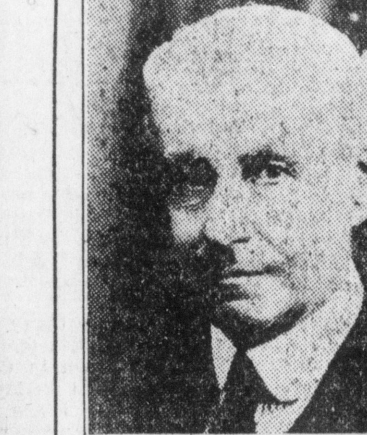

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The following telegram was received this morning from Senator Johnson at the Johnson-for-President headquarters in San Francisco:

"The finest thing in my political life has been the recent contest in California where men and women with whom I have marched to victory for fourteen years, knowing a fore-ordained result, chose to go down with me to defeat. I doubt if any other place on earth can show so large a portion of a citizenship unafraid, accepting in advance defeat, merely to register its esteem and loyalty. I am exceedingly grateful to those who made the fight. I wish I could personally thank each one, but only through the medium of the press can I express my gratitude and my appreciation.

"This after all is no real disaster. It is neither despairing nor disheartening. The contest has been cleaned and garnished our house. It has more closely knit Progressives. We look to the future only now, to California and California's welfare; and the men and women of Tuesday's fight, whom power could not swerve nor influence and wealth deter, whose ranks were unbroken by certainty of defeat, will prepare for the next struggle and go forward again to victory."

Under the British penal system corporal punishment—flogging—can be inflicted only on prisoners convicted of felony or sentenced to penal servitude or hard labor, who are found guilty of attempting to mutiny, assaults on keepers, and so on. Only prisoners over eighteen years of age are subject to such punishment.

Mr. Mayer Ought to Know

Mr. R. Mayer is Horton's "contact man" with customers. He meets you AFTER you have become a customer. You don't see him in the store—he comes to your home and keeps in touch with you. He ought to know something about how home-makers regard this store. He says:

"It's a pleasant job to pay visits to customers of the Horton store. I can see how they are using the furniture they bought, and get an idea of the effect of the service the store gives.

"They often say that the furniture looks better when they receive it than it did in the store, and of course I know that is due to the fact that every piece passes through the finishing department first before it goes out.

"Another thing, they are usually pleased with the idea of paying for the furniture while they use it, and keep the other affairs of their lives going.

"And there is never an unfavorable argument about prices. They understand that our policy is one-price-to-all, that it is a fair price, and things are exactly as represented.

"I think our customers are very splendidly taken care of."

R. Mayer,
Outside Representative.

TICKETS BEING PURCHASED TO 'DAYS OF '99'

Women of the city today were engaged in promoting the sale of tickets to the "Days of '99," to be given at the high school auditorium the night of Thursday, May 15, for the benefit of the typhoid relief fund of the city federation of parent-teacher associations. Rehearsals now are in progress for various features of the vaudeville program to be presented, it was announced.

The Gibson Girl chorus will meet for practice at 7:15 p. m. today, at the home of Mrs. Harry Leipsic, 1907 North Main street. Anyone who can sing is requested to report at the rehearsal. Mrs. C. M. Scott is directing the chorus.

The minstrel show, under the direction of Mrs. Marshall Harnois, promises to be a big hit, it was declared. Old time popular songs will feature this part of the program, some of the numbers scheduled being "Bicycle Built for Two", "Honey Boy" and "I'd Like to Take a Dip in the Ocean."

The fund being contributed through The Register today was increased $3 by contribution of J. H. Lipplatt, making the total to date $1321.05.

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Pagon Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every Druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinges of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. Sues Anti-Bonus League Officers

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—As an aftermath of the adjusted compensation bill fight in congress, twenty-two suits for $100,000 each have been filed against officers of the Ex-service Men's Anti-Bonus league by Edward L. Allen, founder and former director of the league. He charged libel and defamation of character. The suits are brought against a group of New Yorkers whom he declared had "sold out the league to Wall street."

Preacher Claims Church Can Learn Much From Press

LONDON, May 8.—The press can teach a great deal to the pulpit, the Rev. E. L. Macassey, vicar of St. Peter's, Hammersmith, declared.

Clarity of thought, direct narrative and simplicity of style, to say nothing of the milk of human kindness, were some of the things in which he thought the pulpit might learn a thing or two from the press.

He declared that "One will meet in Fleet Street (London's great newspaper row) a purer brand of the milk of human kindness than that obtainable in 'The High' at Oxford"—were many youths are trained for the clergy.

The vicar predicted that a fortune awaits the man who starts a church newspaper, wherein religious topics are handled by expert newspaper men "instead of by experts in church embroidery or internalism."

ENDEAVORERS PLAN FULLERTON PARLEY

Addresses by Fred King, treasurer of the state Christian Endeavor union, and Dr. Cortland Myers, formerly of the Temple Baptist church of Boston; songs led by C. E. Morrow, Y. M. C. A. secretary at Orange, and a pageant to mark the demonstration of Junior Endeavorers—these and other features, it was learned here today, have been arranged for the county Christian Endeavor convention opening Saturday and continuing through Sunday at the Fullerton Christian church.

A banquet is scheduled at the church Saturday night, while lunch will be served there Sunday evening.

In outlining work accomplished by the county union the past year, Homer Anderson, president, declared:

"Christian Endeavor in Orange county is training the young life to higher and nobler ideals—what higher aim can be placed before the young people of this? That they carry the message of love and salvation in Jesus Christ to all parts of the world."

Anderson explained that the convention this year has been shifted from fall to spring.

HUGE ICE FLOW HALTS CATTLE RELIEF SHIP

BREMERTON, Wash., May 8.—Thwarted by immense Arctic ice flows, which were loosened in the North Bering Sea by a northwestern gale and blown to the Pribilof Islands, where the United States seal preserve is located, the Bureau of Fisheries vessel Eider was unable to take a load of hay from St. Cloud Island to starving cattle on St. Paul Island, a distance of forty miles, according to a wireless dispatch received here from St. Paul Island.

After waiting ten days for favorable weather, the Eider succeeded in reaching the Pribilof Islands April 28. Landings then were made at both St. George and St. Paul Islands in the Pribilof group.

When the Eider reached St. Paul it was learned that cattle quartered there were starving. The vessel returned to St. George Island for hay. Before the ship was ready for the trip to St. Paul Island, the wind changed to the northwest, bringing down large Arctic ice flows. Seeing that it was impossible to land the hay, the Eider returned to Dutch Harbor.

The appearance of icebergs in the Pribilof Islands has never occurred within the memory of the oldest inhabitants. Capt. F. G. Dodge, district commander of the United States Coast Guard Service, with headquarters in Seattle, declared today that if the icebergs float southeast the same condition might arise as in 1917 when thirty cannery vessels were stuck in the ice in Bristol Bay and four were crushed to pieces.

TROOPS GUARD SIX MEN DUE FOR DEATH

(By United Press Leased Wire)
AMITE, La., May 8.—State troops maintained a close guard today on the little Amite jail which holds six Italians sentenced to hang at noon tomorrow for the murder of Dallas Calmes.

The guardsmen, camped in the jail yard, kept their vigil throughout the night, while inside the jail guards did not leave the prisoners unwatched for a second. Another company of guardsmen is due here Friday.

These precautions are being taken to prevent the prisoners from attempting to kill themselves and to frustrate any effort that might be made to assist them in escaping. Threats of death have been received by all officials connected with the executions and large bribes have been offered if the men are allowed to escape.

The condemned men were in cells adjoining the part of the jail where the double scaffold has been erected. They could catch a glimpse of the rough pine board wall erected around the traps.

REVEAL WOODING ENDED IN SUIT BY DIVORCE

When C. E. Burrier and Mrs. Nellie Vollmer went motoring and became involved in an automobile collision near Anaheim some months ago, they were not the only ones shaken up in the wreck, it was revealed today.

Dan Cupid, a third passenger in the car, was figuratively knocked into a "cooked hat."

According to testimony today at the trial of Mrs. Vollmer's $5847 damage suit against Burrier in Superior Judge Williams' court, Burrier was courting Mrs. Vollmer, a comely divorcee, and invited her to ride in his car.

But when the accident took place, it appeared, all was over. Mrs. Vollmer sued Burrier for damages, claiming to have sustained injuries in the accident and financial loss by reason of disability. She blamed her former suitor for the wreck, declaring that he operated his car negligently.

Burrier was on the witness stand today, testifying to disprove this charge. He blamed F. G. Harlan, driver of the other car involved, for the wreck. Burrier denied that in making a turn at the intersection where the wreck took place he "cut" the traffic button.

Attorney A. W. Rutan, representing Burrier, and Attorney Loren W. Smith, counsel for Mrs. Vollmer, had their clients drawing diagrams of the accident scene and the position of the cars involved, to illustrate the manner in which the collision occurred.

A SIGNAL shows on the switchboard, a telephone number is asked for, and a wire highway is created over which two persons may send their words and thoughts, one to the other.

Over forty million times a day these messages pass over the wires of the Bell System, to attract negotiations between buyer and seller, to keep homes and hearts united, to summon aid or protection in emergencies.

To find the worth of this service would mean to look into nearly every home and office, nearly every

The telephone operator cannot follow her work to its results, but she can appreciate its importance. In her keeping is part of a great mechanism of nation-wide intercommunication, but those whom she serves and the benefits of her service remain unknown. Growing In Interest Are Pageant Plans For Days of '99

Mothers of 1924 who seek to turn back the wheel of time and pattern themselves on the mothers of 1899 in preparation for the P.T.A. federation pageant "Days of '99," have two big obstacles to overcome it seems, for they are totally unfamiliar with long skirts and long hair.

Now they may be short on skirts and hair, these mothers of today but they are long on originality and energy, hence the interest that is being taken in the pageant which will be featured at the High school auditorium Thursday night, May 15 at 8 o'clock. Originating in the clever mind of Mrs. John Adams, the affair is growing to such proportions as to astonish even its originator.

During the recent typhoid fever situation in the city, many cases of need came to light, cases where the ordinary methods of charity failed. In no way could an organization so well live up to its name as did the Parent-Teacher association, for banded together to aid in every possible way, the members came to the front at once and in every case possible gave freely of time and money, in which they were generously aided by public-spirited friends. Nurses were placed in homes where they were so sadly needed and every need of care, medicine, and food was met until now the federation treasury is sadly depleted. Hence the pageant, which will serve a twofold purpose, entertain a host of friends and aid in filling the coffers of the society against present and future needs.

Talented folk from all over the city are giving of their time and ability to make the affair a success and some of the acts promise to yield more entertainment than anything seen in the city throughout the winter.

The Gibson girls for instance. Admired of Charles Dana Gibson's luscious and well-rounded beauties of a score of years ago, will be carried back in fancy to those days when Gibson girls smiled from every magazine cover, beamed from every bride's parlor walls and smirked from the illustrations of every popular novel. They will be out in full force with their huge sleeves, gracious curves, tall pompadours and sweeping skirts. Moreover they will sing the songs appropriate to the period and when Miss Hazel Bemis glides down stage "On a Bicycle Built for Two" it is safe to predict a riot.

The pageant of mothers being arranged by Mrs. Neal Beisel and Mrs. W. C. Mayes promises to be equally quaint and interesting while the minstrel show directed by Mrs. Marshall Harnois will be a "scream" in every sense of the word. Offering direct contrast will be the vivid "Bit of Spain" which Madame Manuela Budrow will present with the aid of Paulo Gonzales and in which she will wear a Spanish costume never worn before in this city.

The Masonic quartette, Harry Garstang's musical number, a chorus directed by Mrs. John Estes, the interlude of magic offered by John Adams, and Jack Fisher's cartoon all will add their bit to the amazing and amusing melange.

Larue Flippa Mayer, the charming heroine of "Robin Hood," will open the affair by singing as a prelude, "Songs My Mother Taught Me" and to add to the general effect will be the ushers directed by Mrs. Walter Fine and who, like the vendors of home-made candies, will be costumed to suit the period. Mrs. Wells will have charge of the candy sales and all sweets will be made by P.T.A. members.

One of the most important positions in the whole affair will be occupied by Mrs. Ralph Adams who will be accompanied for every musical number. Mrs. Adams has been on the vaudeville stage as a professional musician and is well fitted for such a place where much of the effect of the songs and musical numbers would be lost were it not for the correct accompaniment.

A most enjoyable time was spent yesterday afternoon by the southeast section of the Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church, at the spacious home of Mrs. D. A. Bear, 1406 East First street, where the large rooms were made doubly cheerful by the attractive bouquets of bright spring flowers.

Members of this section whose surnames began with H to M inclusive, were hostesses to the other members of the section, and also to all the women of the congregation whose names began with these same letters. Over one hundred responded to the invitation, and were made known to each other by paper May baskets, which they wore and on which was written their name and their native state.

A unique guessing game in which the answers of twenty questions were names of flowers, tested the memory, and no one was successful in naming them all. Mrs. A. M. McDermott, Mrs. Cleary, Mrs. Charles Winans, Mrs. W. W. Herrington and Mrs. R. P. Yeague guessed nineteen correctly, and drew cuts for the prize. Mrs. Herrington being the fortunate one was rewarded by a lovely May basket, filled with dainty pink blossoms. The consolation prize fell to Mrs. Ruth A. Yonel, and was also a May basket.

Mrs. John Estes delighted her hearers with a reading about the "Pompos Hunt," and responded to an encore with a poem by Edgar Guest entitled, "When She Ponders Her Nose."

Following several charades, small bows of various colored ribbons were passed, five of each color, and those wearing the same shades were grouped for refreshments. The trays bore attractive May baskets, filled with Cecil Brunner buds, together with delicious strawberry ice and home made cakes.

Wedding of Yesterday Followed Delay Due To Illness

Wedding bells which yesterday rang for Miss Catherine Morris and Arthur P. Heard had been scheduled to sound their chiming exactly two months ago, on Saturday, March 8, 1924, but just two days previous to the wedding for which cards were out and all plans perfected, young Mr. Heard came down with typhoid fever from which he is now convalescing nicely after a two months' siege.

However, the belated wedding day was just as happy a one and yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the young people accompanied by their mothers, Mrs. John Morris and Mrs. Frank Heard, went to the parsonage of the First Christian church where nuptial vows were taken before the pastor, the Rev. F. T. Porter.

Miss Morris wore a smart little tulleur of tan and a very becoming orange hat while her flowers were decorated with roses whose hearts repeated the color of her hat. Her only ornament was a handsome string of pearls, gift of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Heard motored to Balboa where for the next ten days or two weeks, they will convert the beach cottage of the Cadwells of Carpinteria, into "honeymoon home."

Upon their return to this city they will be established in the girlhood home of the bride at 1037 West Second street, with her mother, Mrs. John Morris, and Mr. Heard feels that he has so far recovered his health as to be able to resume his position with the Santa Ana Commercial company.

His bride, as Miss Morris, was a Santa Ana high school graduate whose popularity was attested by the series of pretty showers and engagement parties which were given to her at the time her engagement was announced.

Evening Bridge Given By Cordial Hosts At Haan Home

A pleasant hospitality prevailed last night at the Otto Haan home on South Birch street when Mr. and Mrs. Haan and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lacy entertained a group of friends at bridge.

The charm of the beautiful home was emphasized by the colorful flowers used in profusion. Ten tables were arranged for cards and at the conclusion of the playing, husbands and wives had their scores totaled together. This resulted in the first prize going to Mr. and Mrs. John Tubbs while second honors were carried off by Mr. and Mrs. George Briggs.

Exquisite linens and centered with flowers for the serving of a dainty little two-course supper when Mr. Haan and Mr. Lacy proved their adeptness in host duties.

The quartette of hosts will present a second similar affair tonight with the same number of tables to be employed.

Guests last night included Messrs. and Mesdames Joe Parsons, J. K. Hermon, Emrys D. White, W. H. Spurgeon, C. Newman, Fred Rowland, H. B. Van Dien, Richard Emison, George Briggs, C. A. Swanson, Ray Chandler, Hugh Lowe, Leonard G. Swales, J. J. Daley, John Tubbs, J. L. Wheeler, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Flood, Dr. and Mrs. Elliott Rowland, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Freda McFadden and Miss Margaret White.

Ebells Dinner Will Be Quite Informal For Gentleman Guests

A vast sigh of relief went up today from Ebells husbands and men friends when they learned that no matter how punctilious in regard to their own evening and dinner gown the feminine members of the family might be, they had declared that mere man might appear at the big Ebells dinner on the night of May 22, in business suits and that even the semi-formality of a dinner coat would not be required.

For despite the fact that Mr. Ebells delights in seeing Mrs. Ebells and their attractive young daughters, the Misses Ebells in colorful and exquisite evening gowns, he loathes getting into his own evening clothes even though Mrs. Ebells carefully puts in all the studs and lays everything out in immaculate order on the bed in the guest room. That he may survey himself in the long cheval glass and see himself reflected in his glory, doesn't repay for the added trouble and anyway there is nothing so comfortable as a plain business suit, and who wants to go to a turkey dinner and not be comfortable?

"And you know, Euphrasia, that the vest to that suit gets a teeny mite snug when I dine—not that it is tight, but just snug, you know," Mr. Ebells confides to Mrs. Ebells in the relief of the assurance that business suits will be quite de rigueur.

Mr. Ebells will face such a dinner as to delight the heart of any epicure. Roast turkey, brown and succulent, will be featured and with it all the delicacies which an abundant season and a gracious climate like Orange county boasts, can offer. Asking five dollars for the tickets, the hostess club is endeavoring to make it possible for everyone to feel that it was five dollars well spent. And Mr. Ebells is urged to show that he feels his wife is worth five dollars as well, and purchase an extra ticket for her—and if pretty little Miss Evelyn Ebells is the pride of her father's heart, as she well should be, he will plunge to the extent of fifteen dollars and include her also.

Young Edward Ebells, so like his father, is an incipient Croesus since he has been working after Junior college hours, and with all his father's excellent taste, will undoubtedly make arrangements to take his pretty cousin Ethel whom he considers worth five dollars of any man's money.

For you see the dinner is to be the leading social event of the season. It will celebrate the opening of the new clubhouse and will make it possible for masculine friends of the club to see for themselves just what has been accomplished by a group of ambitious women. The entire building will be thrown open to the public and following the dinner hour, an excellent musical program will be given. There will be very little speaking, in fact only three toasts are being arranged for, and one of the three will be given by a "mere man."

A unique feature of the dinner will be the fact that, contrary to many similar affairs staged elsewhere, there will be no strings attached to attendance. Often guests at such a dinner are solicited for further contributions to a cause. But not at the Ebells dinner which is designed for one big purpose, to show the clubhouse to interested friends. An admittance ticket will cost five dollars—and there the outlay ends, no one will be solicited for donations to the building fund. And in every respect the evening promises to be happy and carefree.

Mrs. W. G. Knox then sang "Ave Maria," accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Crose. Miss Alice Plumer reviewed the opening chapter of the new study book, "The Child and America's Future," which bids fair to be most interesting. Mrs. Ralph Barker concluded the meeting by playing a delightful piano solo, "A Love Song," by Charles Cadman.

During the business session it was decided to send a Christmas box to some of our missionaries in the foreign field, the box to be filled and sent by September 1. Also a box of clothing is to be collected and sent to the mountaineers in Arkansas. Anything that can be used for men, women and children can be left at the home of the president, Mrs. William Smart, 714 North Main street.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. T. Raft, is a delegate to the Women's General Missionary convention to be held in Pittsburgh and will leave May 27.

Following the program and business session the women again enjoyed a social hour, and delicious fruit-ade was served.

Pies, salads and cakes with spice and everything else that's very nice will be sold to you at reasonable price, Saturday at Catholic cooked food sale.

Woman's Union

There was a good attendance at the all-day meeting of the Woman's Union and Missionary department of the Congregational church held yesterday at the church. The president of the union, Mrs. W. B. Tedford, conducted the morning session after which a pot-luck luncheon was served at noon by the luncheon committee, Mesdames Neff, E. H. Rowland, Petrie and W. H. Crose.

At 2 o'clock Mrs. C. F. Crose, the president called the Missionary department to order. Mrs. Ralph Barker opened the meeting by playing "My Rosary." All present were helped and inspired by the devotional service conducted by Mrs. Lucy J. Whiting. The president led in a report of the recent missionary conference held in Glendale. It was conducted in a conversational style which made it more interesting than the usual convention reports. After this a little skit entitled, "Packing the Missionary Box," was participated in by the Mesdames P. F. Schrock, C. F. Crose, W. H. Crose, W. A. Beals, L. M. Smith, W. H. Sutton, W. B. Tedford, E. M. Nealley and F. T. Bloodgood. It proved very amusing but also taught the lesson of how not to pack a missionary box.

Mrs. W. G. Knox then sang "Ave Maria," accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Crose. Miss Alice Plumer reviewed the opening chapter of the new study book, "The Child and America's Future," which bids fair to be most interesting. Missionary Society

The Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church held the banner meeting of the year yesterday at the manse, with Mrs. W. H. McPeak as hostess. Over eighty members came with some kind of a prepared dish and by noon the tables were loaded with all kinds of delicacies. A most appetizing cafeteria lunch was enjoyed and until 2 o'clock the spacious rooms were filled with members enjoying a social hour. Many large bouquets of roses and sweet peas were used abundantly in each room.

The committee in charge of the day's program beside the hostess, Mrs. McPeak, were Mrs. A. J. McFadden, Mrs. A. G. Finley, Mrs. William Currie, Mrs. J. H. Collins, Mrs. Dunbar and Mrs. D. Kellogg, whose place was taken by Miss Rosaline Kellogg, owing to the former's illness. Mrs. McPeak had charge of the program and a rich treat was offered all those who were in attendance, for Dr. J. Phandora Simpson was present and gave a most interesting address.

Dr. Simpson is from Jhelum, India, where she is in charge of a hospital, and she told of the work done at the hospital. She opened her talk by showing costumes worn by certain castes of India. Miss Minnie Cowan and Mrs. John McAuley, dressed in the costumes made excellent East Indian characters. Dr. Simpson was a very pleasing speaker and her talk was very much enjoyed by those present.

During the business session it was decided to send a Christmas box to some of our missionaries in the foreign field, the box to be filled and sent by September 1. Also a box of clothing is to be collected and sent to the mountaineers in Arkansas. Anything that can be used for men, women and children can be left at the home of the president, Mrs. William Smart, 714 North Main street.

COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from inflammation. My back was all done up. I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken 12 bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it."—Mrs. D. M. BEAUCHAMP, 1104 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

ABERNATHY ON TRAIN BOUND FOR PRISON

Joseph R. Abernathy, once superintendent of schools at Anaheim and candidate for county office today was on his way to federal prison at Leavenworth, Kans., to which penitentiary he has been sentenced to serve five years in connection with the theft of nearly $25,000 from the mails at Anaheim.

Abernathy was in a party of fifteen federal prisoners that left Los Angeles last night in a special car, thirteen of them being bound for Leavenworth and two going to other points to face trial. Deputy United States Marshal Finn was in charge of the prisoners, he being accompanied by several other deputies and guards.

Of the thirteen going to Leavenworth, Abernathy is sentenced to the longest term. Besides his sentence he was ordered to pay a fine of $10,000 when he recently was convicted of the mail robbery at a trial in federal court, Los Angeles.

Charles R. Wheeler, former registry clerk at the Anaheim post office, was acquitted at the same trial. Both had been implicated by J. Lloyd Findlay, former mail messenger, who confessed his own guilt and testified for the government at the trial of Abernathy and Wheeler. Disposal of Findlay's case has not yet been made known.

LEARN MISSING SHOE MAN AT STOCKTON

Sam Barker, missing shoe merchant of Santa Ana, registered at a hotel in Stockton three weeks ago, according to a statement made here today by Claude Rogers, city marshal.

The marshal added that this is the first definite clue as to Barker's travels developed since he disappeared March 22.

At the same time Rogers said that no special efforts were being made by the local police to apprehend Barker. It was declared by the officer that no warrant for arrest had been placed in his charge.

Information of Barker's visit at Stockton was revealed with investigations being made in connection with the filling by creditors in the federal court at Los Angeles of a petition asking the court to adjudge the missing man a bankrupt.

In the petition, creditors assert that when Barker disappeared he removed from his place of business here goods valued between $500 and $900.

In view of the fact that the petition is an involuntary petition, it will be necessary to secure service on the missing man either in person or by advertising.

This, it was asserted here by Ben E. Tarver, referee in bankruptcy for Orange county, makes indefinite the day when Barker may be adjudged a bankrupt and the matter referred to him.

WOMAN ADVERTISER WILL SPEAK HERE

Miss Hester Robinson, former Santa Ana newspaper woman and now manager at Buenos Aires of the advertising department of a large importing firm at New York, today was announced as the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Advertising club at St. Ann's Inn tomorrow.

In addition to the address by the visitor, Miss Ruth Helen Oakes will entertain with selection on the harp and R. L. Bisby will discuss the conventions of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs association to be held at Fresno.

Leon Eckles will lead in club singing.

Women Here Show Exhibit Interest

Housewives of Santa Ana were declared today to be evincing increasing interest in the free cooking school which is being conducted daily until and including Saturday at the store of the John McFadden Hardware company, 113 East Fourth street. A lecture which was given today was entitled "Short-Cuts in Cake and Pie Making." Tomorrow's lecture is entitled "Salads and Their Place in the Diet." Saturday "General Cooking" will be featured. Visitors are being requested to bring pad and pencil to record recipes and general culinary hints. Demonstrations in the time and labor saving in the kitchen through the use of Mafola, a vegetable salad and cooking oil, were said to be creating especial interest.

Predict Future For
Tenor to Sing Part
In 'Creation' Opera

DUDLEY B. CHAMBERS, lyric tenor, of Los Angeles, who will sing the part of Uriel in the "Creation" to be given at the high school in Orange Tuesday night.

Dudley B. Chambers of Los Angeles will be the tenor soloist in "Creation," the opera to be presented at the high school at Orange Tuesday night. It was announced here today. He will sing the part of Uriel.

It was declared here that Chambers had his training in Europe and America and that he had sung the "Redemption" under the direction of Joseph Paché of Baltimore, with the Philharmonic orchestra of Philadelphia.

"Chambers has a beautiful lyric tenor voice, perfectly adapted to his part in "Creation," said an Orange musician. "The critics of Los Angeles predict a big future for the young singer."

Presentation of the opera at Orange is attracting country-wide attention. It was added, as many musicians of the county are to participate in the cast.

COUNTY HARBOR 'BODY OF 50' MEET TODAY

Suggestions for Orange county's plans to be followed for the development to be made of the tri-counties harbor at Newport Beach are expected to be made tonight at the first meeting of the "committee of fifty," recently appointed by the board of county supervisors.

The entire committee, accompanied by the supervisors and officials of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, was to meet at 4 p. m. today at the harbor to be taken for a boat ride across the bay and through the channel.

After the cruise about the harbor the Harbor Chamber will entertain the committee and the supervisors at dinner served at the yacht club. The committee then will be left alone to organize and then to work out plans and recommendations for the county's part in the harbor development.

The program to be outlined at tonight's meeting is expected to embody future development as well as the work to be undertaken immediately, it was announced.

One of the big problems to confront the committee is the proper means of financing the work to be accomplished by Orange county, and to name the sum of money which should be spent.

It is said that many members of the committee favor the issuance of bonds to finance the county's part of the program. If a decision is reached which favors bonding action, it will be the duty of the group of fifty to suggest a date and work out all details for a bonding election.

FANATIC SLAIN AS HE HOLDS 4 AT BAY

(By United Press Leased Wire) KANSAS CITY, May 8.—Peter Gaston, who walked into the lobby of a downtown hotel here today with a Bible in one hand and a revolver in the other, was shot and killed in a battle with police fifteen minutes later. Authorities believe he was a religious fanatic. Papers found in his pocket indicated he was from Hiram, Mich.

The man entered the hotel while four men were seated in the lobby. He registered, changing his revolver to his left hand as he penned his name. He placed his Bible on the cigar counter. Then he turned on the guests in the lobby and calmly asked:

"All of you men believe in God?"

The hotel guests mumbled a reply. Bell boys dashed for the elevator. The clerk dogged behind a counter and called the police.

"All of you put your left hand on the Bible and your right hand on your heart," the fanatic continued. The hotel clerk, seated at the switchboard, called George Fleischner, a federal narcotic agent, who lives at the hotel.

As the four men placed their hands on the Bible, Gaston turned to one and demanded:

"Where is the girl you stole from me a year ago at the North hotel?"

S. A.'S GROWTH AGAIN SHOWN BY LIBRARY ACTIVITY

5000 More Books Circulated
In April Than In Same
Month of 1923

QUARTERS ARE TAXED

Gain Made In Past Thirty Days Also Over Previous Period, Says Chief

"Santa Ana will soon realize larger library accommodations are needed if the present rate of increase in circulation continues," Miss Jeannette E. McFadden, in charge of the public library here, stated today.

A gain of approximately 2000 in the number of books circulated during April over the total for March, and an increase last month of 5000 books over the number circulated during April, 1923, formed another proof, Miss McFadden declared, that Santa Ana is growing steadily.

One Day Record.

The librarian's regular monthly report shows the library was open twenty-six days for circulation and thirty days for reading. The main library loaned 14,986 volumes last month, the three school deposits required 934 books, the Franklin branch used 918 volumes during the seven days it was open for circulation, and the John Muir branch circulated 875 books during the eight days open for circulation, making a total for April of 17,713 books distributed.

One day during the month a record was made when 845 books were placed in circulation. The average daily circulation, however, was 577.

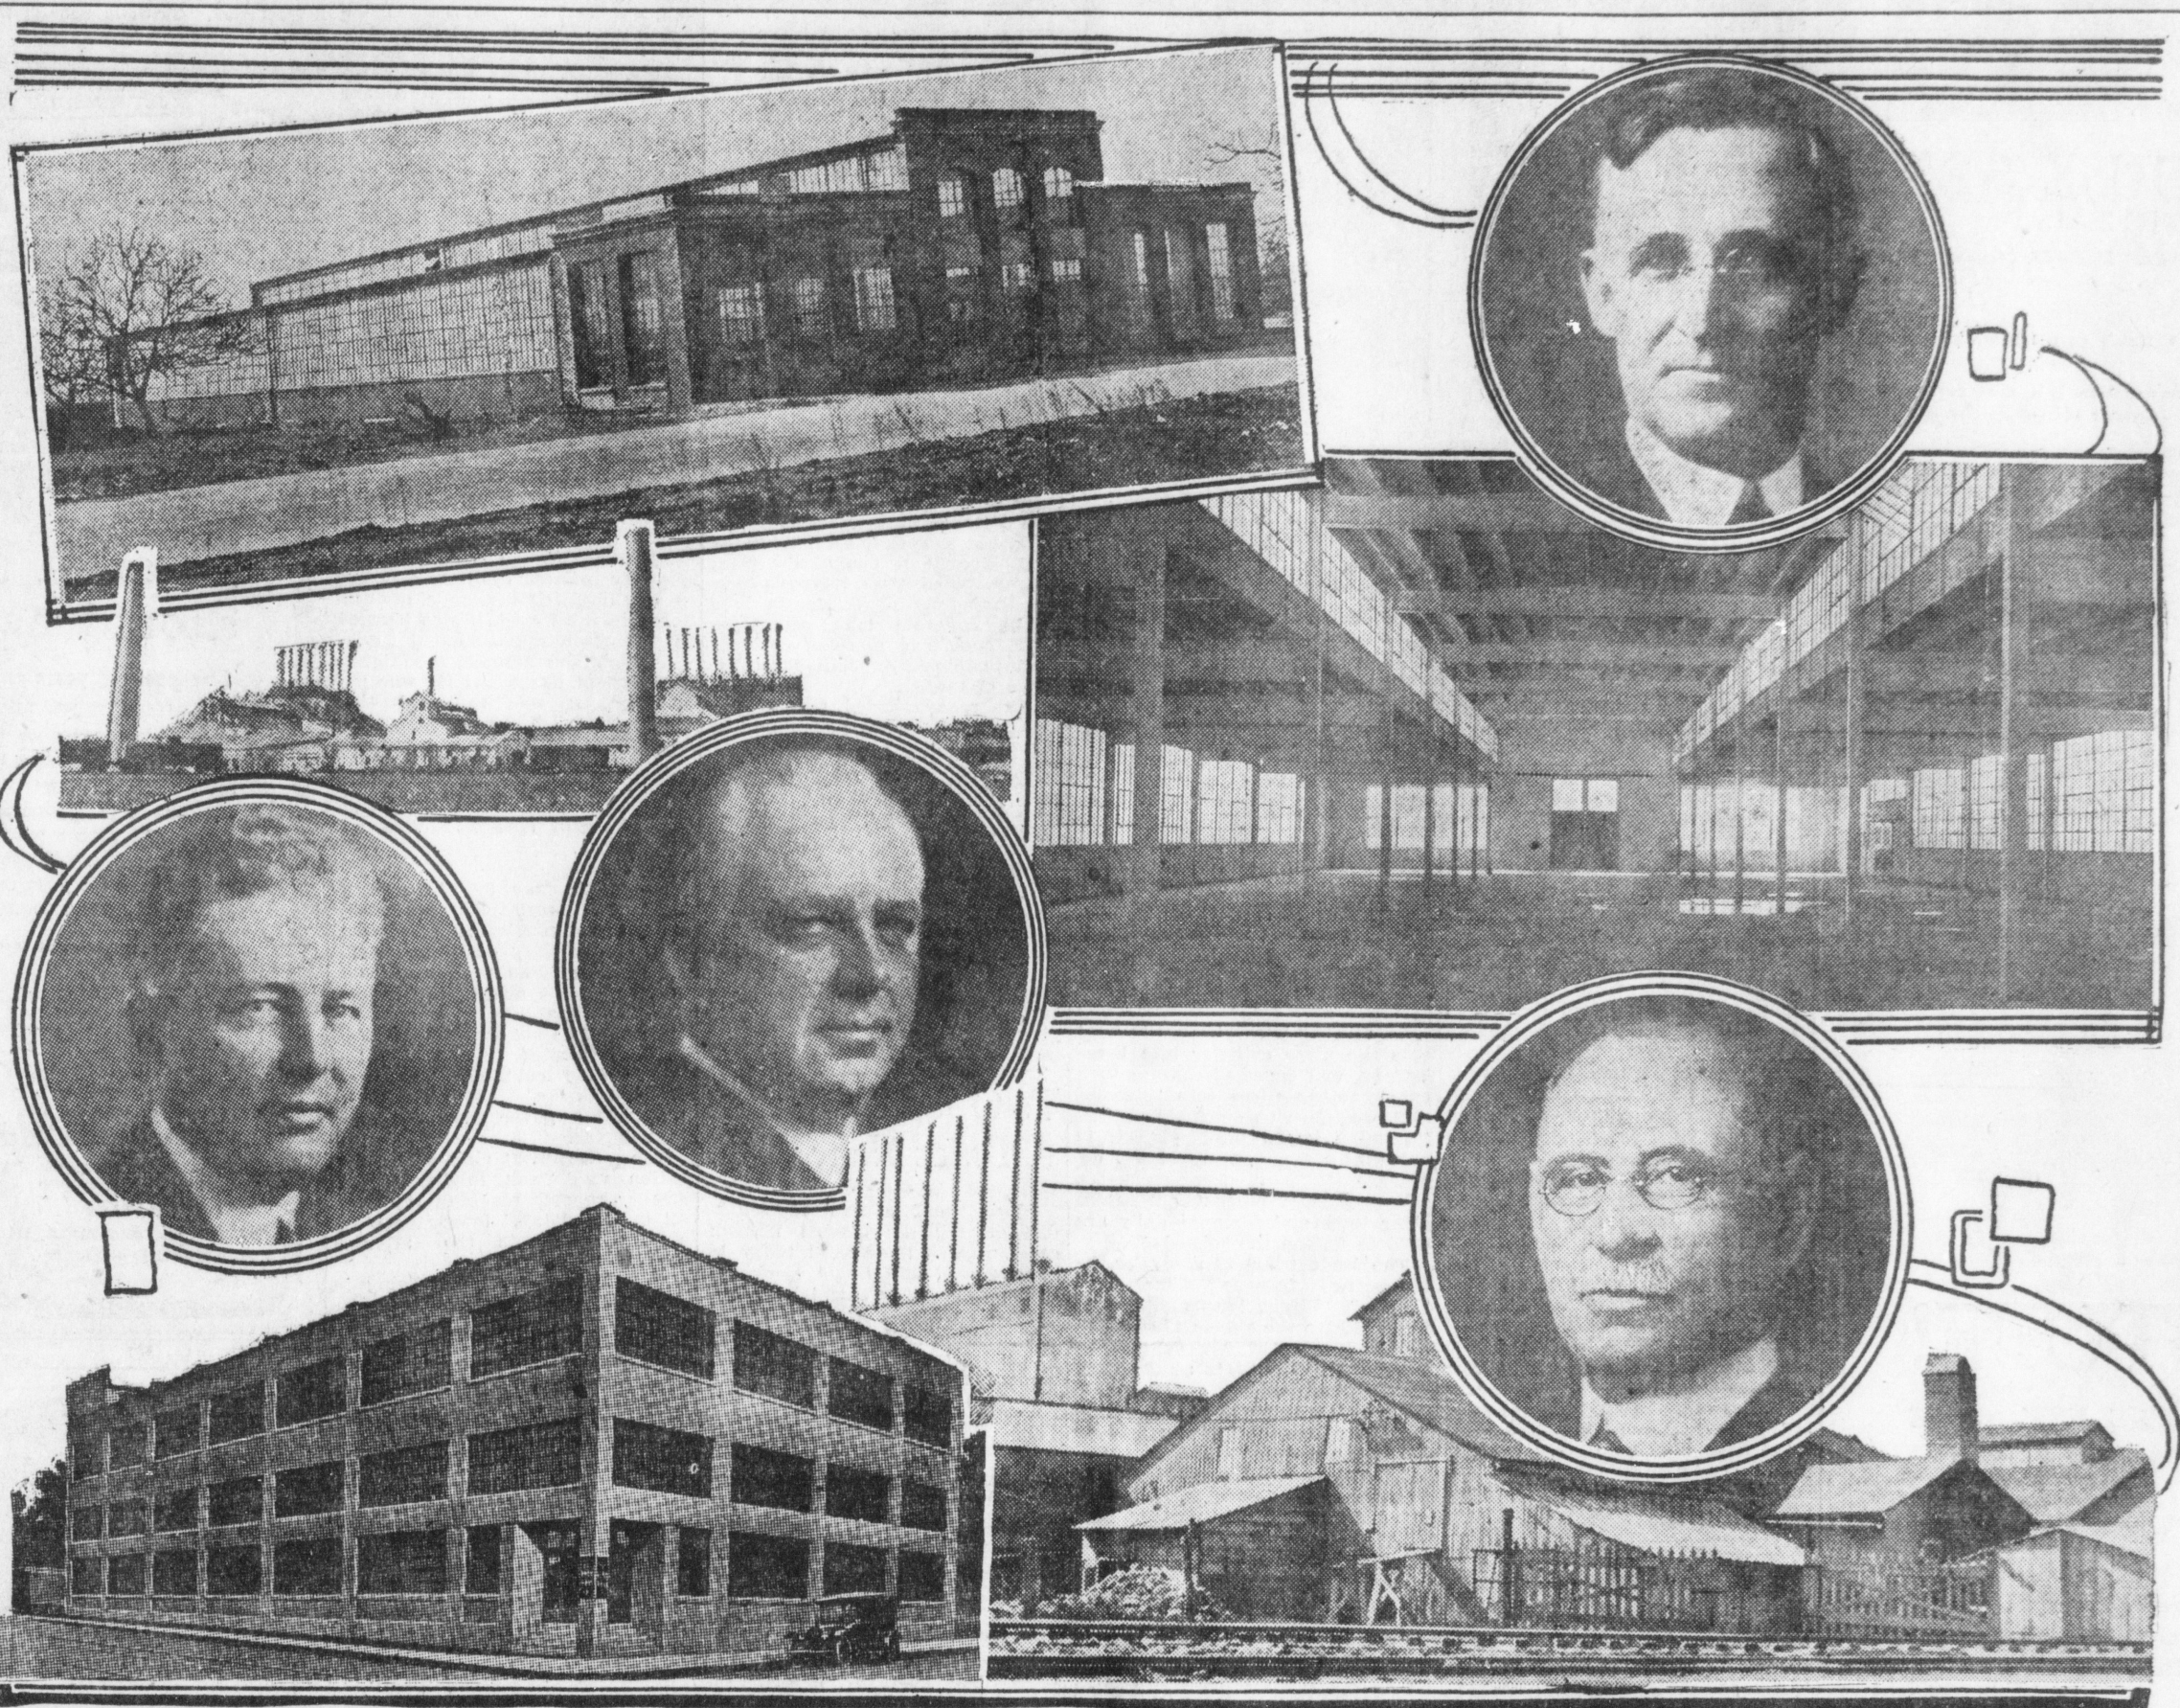

There were 3266 calls for juvenile fiction and 2231 requests for juvenile non-fiction. The adult demand for fiction for April was 3037 and for non-fiction was 3010, while the periodical circulation was 221. Twenty-five per cent of the books circulated were non-fiction, according to the report.

There were 847 new cards registered, comprising new borrowers and old renewals. More than 370 new books were added to the shelves, 673 old books were mended, and 64 were recased.

Overdue notices had to be sent to 116 borrowers last month.

The library circulated 17,713 volumes last month and 12,477 during April, 1923, an increase of 5,236. It was disclosed by Miss McFadden's report.

EXPECT TO BEGIN CONSTRUCTION OF GLASS FACTORY HERE WITHIN TEN DAYS

These buildings will be used as patterns for several of the structures to be erected immediately in Santa Ana's Central Industrial district, which is owned by the Lloyd Syndicate, comprised of Robert E. Brown (left center), industrial realtor with offices in Santa Ana and Los Angeles; George W. Moore, (center), partner of Brown, and Charles Lloyd (lower right), Los Angeles capitalist and founder of the Lloyd-Scovel Iron works. The building shown at the upper left and right center will be duplicated in construction on a five-acre tract at the corner of the Delhi road and the Southern Pacific tracks. J. A. Ullmer, president of the company, shown in the upper right hand corner of the picture, says his pump factory will be operating in Santa Ana in about sixty days. The group of buildings with the tall smokestacks is identical to part of the first unit to be constructed by the Standard American Glass company, which will be started in about ten days. The group in the lower right corner of the layout offers an idea as to how the glass factory will look after September 15, when it is expected to be manufacturing three carloads of window-glass a day. The tall building with the long suction pipes contains the blowers which force the glass into tubes fifty-four feet high.

DIRECT ROAD NEEDED FOR RELIEF OF TRAFFIC

City Planners Recommend
Action By Supervisors
And Local Council

Recommending that the Santa Ana city council and the Orange county board of supervisors be requested to take action that eventually will provide for an eighty-foot width of Seventeenth street from the Los Angeles county line to Lemon Heights, the City Planning commission here today had taken a forward step to relieve traffic congestion and to form another valuable entrance to the city of Santa Ana.

The idea, which was introduced by S. H. Finley to the planning commission in the form of a resolution which was unanimously adopted, has not yet been worked out in detail, according to Mrs. Clara Cushman, secretary of the commission.

"A direct eighty-foot paved highway from the county line to Lemon Heights," Finley stated, "would do much toward attracting motorists west of Santa Ana, bringing them through this city on a street capable of accommodating a large amount of traffic."

"The natural development of Santa Ana justifies such a project. No one disputes the fact that we need an eighty-foot artery traversing this district from the east and west. There are many valuable crops grown in nearby sections that would be benefited by this highway extension, and the wide boulevard would be a natural invitation to bring these desired products to Santa Ana."

Need Nearby Trade
"Santa Ana wants the trade of the persons residing in those nearby sections, and the proposed thoroughfare will prove a powerful magnet for the county seat."

Now that the coast highway is being completed along the ocean border of the county, the need for a wide paved road to "swing" tourists through Santa Ana is felt more than ever, members of the planning commission said. Unless action is taken to divert the traffic through this section of the county, a large proportion of the tourists will use the coast highway instead of passing through the larger cities of Orange county, it was declared.

"The moment we are off the main line of travel, our development will be greatly retarded," Finley declared.

Two Permits for Building Detailed

City Building Inspector Decker today announced that permits for construction issued yesterday included two homes. Roy Russell, local realtor, secured a permit to build a five-room residence and garage at 422 North McClay street, at a cost of $3000. Mrs. Sarah E. Hutchins of 520 West Sixth street was granted the right to construct a three-room "California house" at 1617 Palm street, costing approximately $1000, Decker asserted.

BONDS TAKEN QUICKLY
TORONTO, Ontario, May 8.—The growing strength of the Canadian bond market is to be seen in the action of the Canadian Pacific railway in placing at home a $12,000,000 issue of 5 per cent collateral trust gold bonds. The price was 98.85 per cent and interest to yield the investor approximately 5.15. This is the first financing done by this corporation during the last ten years, and it is to be noted that the entire issue was taken up within a few hours after the books had been opened.

SET AUGUST 1 TO BEGIN WORK ON NEW HOSPITAL

Construction by the Santa Ana Valley Hospital association of a 60-bed hospital on the southwest corner of Grand and Washington avenues, at a cost approximately of $200,000, will begin August 1, Dr. J. M. Burlew, vice president of the association, announced here today.

This is the first definite statement made as to when the new hospital building would be begun, and the announcement was received with the greatest interest by Santa Ana residents.

At the same time the physicians said details of an endowment fund of $20,000 for maintenance of two or more free beds were being worked out. The endowment is to be made by a Santa Ana resident, whose name is withheld because of objection by the donor to its being made public.

Stockholders in the old Santa Ana Community Hospital association have definitely arranged for the endowment of three free beds in the new institution, Dr. Burlew added. This arrangement finishes disposition of the stock of the old concern.

Frank Lansdown, a local architect, has been commissioned by the directors to direct the building operations, and he has completed the drawing of plans for the sixty-bed structure. Specifications soon will be completed, at which time contractors will be asked to submit offers for construction of the building.

Asserting that the company has paid in full for its site on the corner of Washington and Grand avenues and that it owns free of debt the old Community hospital ground and building on East Washington avenue, the vice president said the association had money on hand to pay at least 50 per cent of the estimated building cost and that the balance would be forthcoming at the proper time.

"It is with no little degree of satisfaction that we have reached the point in our hospital development program where we can announce an approximately definite date for the beginning of construction work," said Dr. Burlew.

"We propose giving to this community a complete modern hospital plant and in a location that is eminently satisfactory."

Tentative plans contemplate utilization of part of the community building in the establishment of a home for nurses and for other uses, it was said.

Building of the new hospital has been under discussion here for nearly two years. Many features in connection with financing and disposal of the old plant were involved in the consideration, hence the slow progress, it was said.

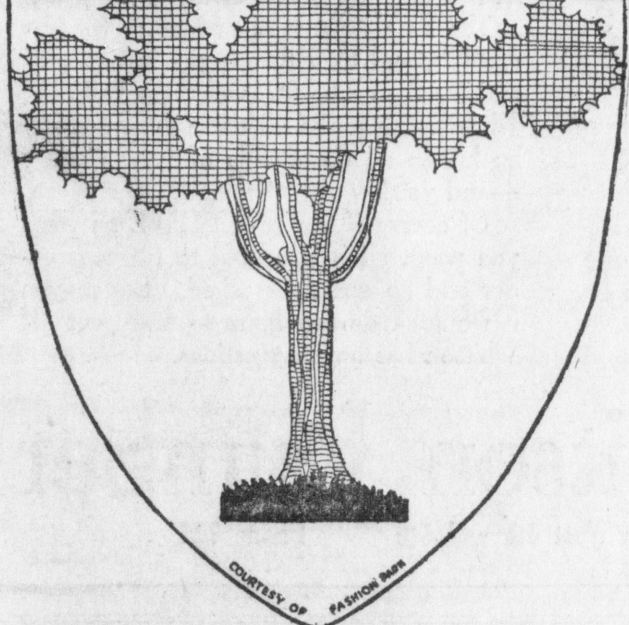

PROSPERITY OF STATE SHOWN BY FIGURES

During the first quarter of 1924 there was one real estate license issued in California for every 100 population, according to a survey just completed by the California Real Estate association. Building conditions throughout the state as a whole continued slightly above the phenomenal record of last year. The prevailing trend of permits is to home building.

Los Angeles continued to lead the nation in real estate transactions with a gross total of $410,000,000 for the first three months of the year and for the past nine months a total of $980,000,000, an increase of more than 50 per cent over the same period a year ago.

The growth of the state progresses steadily, the association found, under the impelling publicity of the great organizations of Northern, Central and Southern California cities.

As placing of the railroad spur in the central industrial district today was nearing completion, it should be only a matter of a week or ten days until cement will be poured for the foundation here of the largest window-glass factory west of the Mississippi river. E. J. Williams, manager of the proposed plant, announced today.

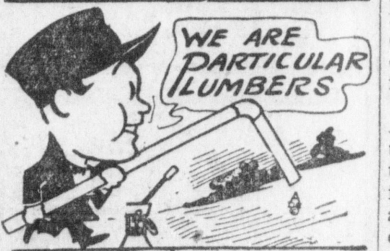

"The new Standard American Glass company expects to be making glass in Santa Ana on or before September 15, 1924," Williams continued, adding that the eight buildings in the first unit of the plant should be virtually completed by that date.

Ultimately there will be twelve buildings, covering ten acres of twenty-five-acre tract of the glass company, he explained.

Duplex House to Go Up on Orange

Workmen today were moving the residence owned by Mrs. Aimee A. Horn, 409 South Flower street, from its old foundation at 826 Orange avenue to the rear of the long lot to make room for a new duplex house which will be constructed in the near future.

The new residence, according to Mrs. Horn, will have two apart-

PLAN TO START GLASS PLANT WORK SOON

contracting for all of the minerals used with the sand for glass making," Williams asserted, "and these materials are all obtained within a radius of 100 miles from Santa Ana. If for any reason we should be disappointed in the shipments of sand from Belgium, we are arranging to have a large supply not far from here available for our use."

Would Employ 250.

F. A. Dixon and W. L. Dixon of Los Angeles, who will have an important part in the activities of the $500,000 glass corporation here have returned from the East where they inspected some of the best glass factories in the United States, Williams stated, and they have secured plans and information that will enable the company to construct what is asserted to be some of the best arranged and most modern glass factories in the country.

The 250 high-salaried skilled glass workers to be trained here in September and employed by the glass company, according to Williams, will be the nucleus for an organization of 800 workmen.

All kinds of window glass will be manufactured, it was announced, including florentine, prism and rough rolled glass.

A spectacular method is to be used by the Standard American Glass company in the manufacture of its products here, it was learned—spectacular because of the remarkable manner in which the molten mass is blown to a height of fifty-four feet where it is cut into pieces by electric wires at a white heat.

The sand used by the plant here must contain more than 95 per cent silica, Williams explained, and he then related the process to be used by the Santa Ana factory.

Three Carloads Daily.

To every ton of sand must be added 750 pounds of salt cake (which is a by-product of soda ash), 250 pounds of pure soda ash, 750 pounds of ground lime and 80 pounds of ground hard coal. This combination mixed thoroughly forms the batch that is placed in a melting chamber heated to a temperature of 3000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Seven hundred pounds of broken glass also must be mixed with each batch, Williams stated.

The plant will have a capacity of fourteen of these batches every twenty-four hours, and the company expects to ship three carloads of glass a day.

The tanks in which the heated "batches" are poured can be made only of imported German clay, it was explained. The main tank is 120 feet long and about 28 feet wide.

There must be 1200 tons of melted glass in the tank before fresh "batches" may be poured through the "mouth" and permitted to flow over dam-like barriers called floaters, which hold back all impurities. After the clarified molten glass passes over the floaters it falls into "rings" made of German clay.

A large ladle then dips 600 pounds of the molten glass from the "rings" into a double pot, where the stiffening mass is taken by grab-hooks into the strong current of air created by a blow fan, which current propels the mass to 108 inches in circumference.

Process Continued.

Then this mass is conveyed upward by the grab-hooks, the product moving faster and faster until it is blown or stretched to a height of fifty-four feet, thence being transformed into a cylinder body 108 inches in circumference and 54 feet long.

An electric wire at a white heat cuts the glass cylinder into three lengths, and these pieces are then cut by other wires into "shaws" that are taken on conveyors to the flattening room and placed in ovens at a temperature of 800 degrees.

Wet wooden blocks cut from alder trees and replaced daily are used to flatten the "shaws."

The product is next ready for the tempering furnace where the "lehrs" 78 feet long and 9 feet wide receive the sheets of glass at a temperature of 600 degrees in front and 100 degrees at the back of the furnace.

The glass then goes into the "pickling" vat of muretic acid to be cleansed and "set."

From this vat the glass is conveyed to the cutting room to be sized according to orders. The

TELLS SANITARY NEED OF FARM HOMES HERE

"There are two features every farm home should and could have, running water and sanitary plumbing to dispose of home sewage. It is best to have the septic tank for this purpose."

These statements were made here today by H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, whose work partially concerns farm home sanitation.

Continuing, Wahlberg stated: "Many persons are under the impression that septic tanks are patented with a construction cost that is prohibitive. This is not the case. The tank can be built in a few hours where several lend a hand, which takes the farmer from his own work for only a short time, but adds permanent improvement to the place."

"A septic tank is an air-tight chamber usually made of concrete into which the raw sewage is emptied. It is here liquefied by bacteria which flourish in the absence of oxygen. The liquid which passes from the tank is clear and easily disposed of through underground tile. The tank may be located any place that is convenient. The usual practice, however, is to locate it near the house, placing it just below the surface of the ground."

"There are many styles of tanks, some with many compartments and patent fixtures. They all work, but a workable tank for the least expense is one of the most desired. The tank advocated by the University of California is a simple concrete tank containing baffle boards in place of concrete partitions usually specified in other styles of tanks."

"The recommended size of this type of tank for ten people or less is 3 feet wide, 7 feet long and 4 feet deep. One smaller than this is not recommended. Walls of the tank are 4 inches thick with a concrete steel cover reinforced with square steel bars or heavy wire netting. Concrete mixture is one, two, four, which is one part cement, two parts sand and four parts crushed rock or gravel. The sides, ends and bottom are poured at one time. The pipe leading from the house to the tank is four inch vitrified sewer pipe, while the pipe leading from the tank is 4 inch terra cotta."

To Open Residence Tract Near Plant

Lloyd Park, a new residential district, will be opened immediately, it was announced today by members of the Lloyd syndicate, which owns the Central Industrial district here.

The new subdivision is between St. Andrew place and St. Gertrude place, east of McFadden No. 4 tract. The firm of Brown and Moore in the Spurgeon building here will offer the lots for sale in a few days, according to Robert E. Moore, industrial realtor.

The property already has been surveyed, it was said, and improvements will be started immediately.

Pieces then will be sorted and graded into AA, B and C qualities and will be crated in boxes containing fifty square feet of glass each. The company, it was said, will operate its own box factory.

CUBA SEEKING AMMUNITION FROM U. S.

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Cuban government has asked the United States to sell a large quantity of ammunition for use in quelling revolutionary disturbances in the island, it was learned at the state department today.

Though the amount the Cuban government has asked for was not revealed, it was indicated that it is prepared to spend about $400,000.

Secretary of State Hughes has turned over the Cuba request to Secretary of War Weeks to learn if it can be met. Weeks will take no action until Monday.

HAVANA, May 3.—The government took stern measures today to prevent agitation in connection with the military outbreak in the provinces of Santa Clara centering around the city of Cienfuegos.

All editions of the newspapers Heraldo de Cuba and El Heraldo were confiscated by police on the ground they contained exaggerated reports of the movement against the government of President Zayas.

The government claimed the situation was "well in hand," and meager reports reaching the capital indicated loyal troops were restoring order in the affected areas.

Troops still were mobilizing in the vicinity of Cienfuegos.

PUT CONTRACTS ON RECORD, IS ADVICE HERE

George R. Wells, president of the Orange County chapter of the Los Angeles Builders' exchange, continuing his series of articles on points of the lien law, today offered the following:

"Record your contract. This is done in the county recorder's office in the court house and costs only one or two dollars. This is not absolutely necessary, but the law gives the original contractor 60 days to file mechanic's liens and material men and laborers thirty days, after notice of completion is recorded.

"If you are getting a building loan, the fact that you have recorded the contract legally establishes the name of the original contractor, so that the loan company is willing to pay out the money thirty-five days after recording notice of completion, by getting a release from the original contractor.

"If you do not record the contract, then they may hold the money for over sixty days in order to be sure that nobody claiming to be an original contractor will file a lien within the sixty days allowed by law."

CLAMP LID ON CHAUTAUQUA PLANS HERE

Standing pat on the earlier declaration it made that it would abide by the regulations of the city health department in decreeing that unnecessary public gatherings should not be permitted in the city, during the foot and mouth disease situation, the committee of guarantors for the 1924 chautauqua today had successfully combatted determination shown of the management of the Ellison-White Lyceum circuit to hold the chautauqua scheduled to open in Santa Ana Saturday and to continue for one week.

Admitting that at a conference of the committee with George C. King, assigned as director of the program in this city, King had at first intimated possibility of coercive action in forcing the program here, H. Newton Thornton, chairman of the committee, today said that King withdrew from this attitude when the situation had fully been explained to him.

Adoption by the council of an emergency ordinance prohibiting big gatherings and indefinite postponement of several large meetings of a local character, were cited by the committee as some of the reasons it could not countenance holding of the chautauqua on the scheduled dates.

It also was shown that no specific date for the program is given in the contract the guarantors signed with the lyceum.

"King wanted us to approve a plan for placing on peace officers responsibility for halting the program," said Thornton.

"He suggested that he be permitted to come here and erect the tent necessary for the chautauqua and leave it to officers to stop its erection. We told him that it was our intention to live up to the ordinance recently adopted by the city council and that we would countenance no subterfuge."

Following reports that the committee of guarantors for the Orange chautauqua had paid $20 each because of cancellation of the meeting there, it was said today that more than one member of the Santa Ana committee declared that if the circuit management collected anything from the local committee it would be following a court decision decreeing the committee liable.

OIL LOT MAN, FREED HERE, AGAIN NABBED

C. O. Jagers, oil operator, who became entangled with the courts in Orange county some months ago in connection with the sale of oil lots, but who was finally freed, today was again facing charges in connection with similar activities. He was being held in the Los Angeles county jail.

Jagers was arrested at Long Beach yesterday on a charge of violating the corporate securities act. It was alleged that he and a partner, A. R. Apple, sold stock in the Kre-Ko Oil company to ranchers in the San Luis Obispo district. The company was said to have been represented as owning valuable oil land and leases, whereas, it is alleged, the records show nothing more tangible than a name in possession of the company.

Three former Los Angeles county deputy sheriffs, Charles Oswald, J. E. Leonard and John P. Andrews, who resigned their positions to become trustees of the Kre-Ko Oil company, are among the accusers of Jagers and are also assisting, it is said, in the search for Apple, who is facing a similar charge.

Improvement Is Made at Tract

Considerable improvement today was being done in the Junior High School tract, near the south city limits. Teamsters were grading the streets and leveling all of the lots in the subdivision which needed grading. It was reported. When the work is completed, the tract will present the appearance of a neat residential district.

HOUSE BARRIER TO EXTENSION OF STREET

The city trustees are up a stump. Santa Ana's rapid growth is causing some big problems to be solved by the city fathers.

And they have solicited the assistance of the city planning commission, as someone will have to be blamed for whatever action is finally taken.

It's a case of being cursed if they do and cursed if they don't. This was revealed here today when it was stated the whole trouble revolves around a certain house. The question is whether to let the street revolve around the house or through it.

The plan for improvements in the North Broadway Park subdivision calls for completing North Park boulevard, Heliotrope drive, Riverside drive, Benton way and an extension of Greenleaf street north into the subdivision.

If Greenleaf is extended through the green leaves of the groves in the subdivision, the street will have to go through a house that was built to withstand a cyclone.

Condemnation of the property by the city would require a very large expenditure of money, according to City Attorney Z. B. West. Yet, if the city is to develop, it would be almost a crime to make an unsightly jog that will be deplored in future years, he added, just because the city is "hard up" at the present time, West explained.

"Anyhow," West continued, "the buck has been passed to the planning commission, and its members will not dare to 'holler' if their recommendations are not in keeping with their regular policy of looking years ahead while planning city streets."

175 OF JR. HIGH READY TO GIVE OPERA

"The orchestra of the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school accepted a mighty task when it offered, to take part in 'A Nautical Knot,' operetta which the students will present this afternoon and again tomorrow night at the high school auditorium," Miss Edith Cornell, director, stated today.

"But on the eve of the appearance there is no question that the orchestra will do its share along with the 150 or more students participating to present a finished production."

Following a dress stage rehearsal yesterday afternoon, Miss Cornell pronounced everything as ready for the curtain to rise at 3:15 p. m. today, when it is expected, the audience will be composed largely of students of the various schools. "Grown-ups" will be expected tomorrow at 8 p. m.

The action and songs revolve about lively but wholesome romance of the young folk who live in the seaside village of Barnstable.

The orchestra, which will give an overture, with Marcia Keeler as accompanist, and which will play during dances and chorus and solo numbers is composed of:

APPROVE THREE LOCAL SITES FOR PARK

The park committee of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association today had decided there were three desirable park sites in the city, according to P. S. Lucas, secretary. E. L. Matthews, Albert Hill and Roy Peterson, the committee reported there is a possibility that the George Ford property on North Ross street could be secured for park purposes, and the committee of three gave this site first choice.

George W. Minter, chairman of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce park committee, stated that he favored the Nisson property on North Main street, as that site faced upon an important thoroughfare entering the city and would therefore impress persons entering Santa Ana with the fact that the county seat was equipped with parks and was a highly desirable home city.

Mrs. W. L. Grubb of the city park commission, while favoring the Ford property on North Birch street, stated that if that land could not be purchased at a reasonable price and if it were probable that bonds would carry for the North Broadway Park site, the commission undoubtedly would view the purchase of the Broadway property favorably.

J. C. Wallace, chairman of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, to day suggested that if the city wishes only a small piece of land it should consider the purchase of a strip along the banks of Santiago creek, consisting of about seven acres, and develop this land for playground and park purposes with a view to influencing neighboring territories in the county to do likewise, and thus a scenic park along the entire banks of the river eventually would be secured.

Wallace also suggested that highways or boulevards be maintained along the banks of the stream.

So the purchase of a park site remains an unsolved problem for the city planners here.

He also asserted that he intends to move to Santa Ana at the close of the present school term.

Realtors Plan $1000 Residence

The realty firm of White and Childers, 306 North Broadway, today had secured a permit from City Building Inspector W. S. My Rosy Skin

How I clean it—how I preserve it

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My skin is the marvel of millions. Even softer and more rosy than 40 years ago. Yet mine is a grandmother's age.

Mine has been no easy life. I have lived it in the limelight. I served France five years in the rigors of the war. Yet countless young girls envy my complexion. I can easily pass for 19.

France gave me the methods I employ. Now, in gratitude, I am supplying them to others. They multiplied my beauty, gave me perennial youth. Now I hope to bring to millions the benefits I got.

How I keep clean

The first step to beauty is a clean skin—a skin that is clean to the depths. Lucio Lantelme, a famous Parisian beauty, taught me how to get it.

The method is a liquid cleanser. I call it my Facial Youth. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. So it cannot grow hair on the face. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. But it penetrates every pore. When I wipe it off, all the dirt and grime, all that clogs the skin comes with it.

You may think you clean your skin without it, but you don't. Apply Facial Youth to what you call a clean skin and see the extra dirt you get. That is what causes blackheads and blemishes.

I cover my body with Facial Youth before bathing. Thus I remove three times the refuse I remove without it.

Nothing to compare

My Facial Youth is the greatest cleansing formula science has created. The greatest beauty experts now employ it. Some supply it to others, but at four times my price.

I bring it to you at a modest price, and I urge you to employ it. A fine complexion is impossible unless the skin is clean.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth is now supplied by all druggists and toilet counters at 75 cents per bottle. Also my Youth Cream—my Youth Cold Cream. Also my White Youth Clay—the last word in facial clay. Also my Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

Clean the skin with my Facial Youth. The immediate results will amaze you. Then, if you wish my other aids, they are at your call. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.—adv.

MEIGHAN SMASHES CLASS

Thomas Meighan recently demonstrated that there was nothing namby-pamby about his motion picture acting when he smashed his fist through a dresser mirror in a scene from "The Confidence Man" the picture now showing at the Yost theater.

In breaking this mirror with his fist, Meighan took the chance of a disfigurement that might have caused the end of his screen career. It so happened that he only caused a severe cut on his right thumb and several bad scratches on his hand. When he smashed the glass, bits of it flew in all directions but luckily none of them struck him in the face.

Virginia Valli has the leading woman's role in "The Confidence Man," a crook story that will remind one of "The Miracle Man." Larry Wheat is in the cast.

"WHY MEN LEAVE HOME"
AT WEST END

"Why Men Leave Home," which begins a five-day engagement at the West End tonight is entertainment par excellence. Not only does it contain a story that for speed and humor cannot be excelled, being from the pen of that master faecur, Avery Hopwood, but it possesses lavish and tasteful settings and a cast that for all round capability cannot be equalled. Headed by the magnetic Lewis Stone and the fascinating Helene Chadwick, the cast numbers Mary Carr, William V. Monck, Alma Bennett, Hedda Hopper, Sidney Bracy, Lila Leslie, E. H. Calvert and Howard Traesdell.

If you want to find out why men leave home go to the West End theater.

BETTER HOMES MOVEMENT BEING OBSERVED IN S.A.

Next week, May 11 to 18, is Better Homes week throughout the United States.

"Santa Ana is certainly doing its share in the great nation-wide movement for better homes," City Building Inspector W. S. Decker today stated.

He continued:

"Of the 338 building permits I have issued so far this year the majority—I'm sorry I cannot state the exact number—called for modern bungalows, and I believe all of these new bungalows are great improvements over the types built in previous years."

"Therefore, I believe Santa Ana has been observing Better Homes week for the past four months, if not longer."

California, the Golden state, promises now to win the further title of Better-Home state of the Union.

California Takes Lead

In other words, California leads the nation at present in its advance plans for a state-wide mobilization of its communities for home betterment. Indications are that more communities in California than in any other state from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast will hold demonstrations under the auspices of Better Homes in America during Better Homes week, from May 11 to 18. Almost the entire state is lining up forces for a notable part in this great campaign.

Sacramento predicts the greatest demonstration of better homes not only in the history of Sacramento, but in the United States. Several houses typifying various kinds of homes, from a new bungalow to ory council of the organization, which includes many of the best-known men and women of the United States.

Foundation of Well Being

"The American home is the foundation of our national and individual well being. Its steady improvement is at the same time a test of our civilization and of our ideals. We need attractive, healthy, permanent homes that lighten the burden of housekeeping. We need homes in which home life can reach its finest levels, and in which can be reared happy children and upright citizens."

President Coolidge declared, in commending participation in the coming home demonstration.

The better homes movement is now in the third year of its existence. It was initiated in 1922 by Mrs. William Brown Meloney and an advisory council, with Calvin Coolidge as honorary head, and Herbert Hoover as chairman. Nearly 500 demonstrations were held during the first year. The movement had so developed by last year that the number of demonstrations was approximately double in 1923. As it became increasingly evident that the Better Homes in America movement was a force of great importance in the education of the American people to higher standards of home life, it was decided to put it on a permanent basis by incorporating the organization as a national educational institution. It is believed that more and better demonstrations than ever before will be held under this new arrangement.

The check was in payment for the calendar year.

CHURCHMEN ASSAIL SMITH'S CANDIDACY

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 8.—Candidacy of Gov. Al Smith of New York, came in for a grilling as the 24th quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church resumed here today.

Smith, if he should be elected, would prove "untrue to his oath of office," Rev. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the church's board of temperance and public morals, said in an address urging rigid enforcement of the nation's dry laws.

Wilson assailed both Governor Smith and President Butler of Columbia University for their views on prohibition.

The secretary accused Butler of "presidential aspirations himself" and added that "presidential bids cannot be preserved in alcohol."

CYCLE OFFICER IN CRASH MAY LOSE FOOT

State Motorcycle Officer G. E. ("Jimmy") Matthews of Newport Beach was seriously injured at 6:15 p. m. last night and may suffer the amputation of a foot, as the result of a collision in which his motorcycle crashed into an automobile said to have been driven by Peter Rueter of 224 North Resh street, Anaheim, at the corner of South Main and Bishop streets in Santa Ana, sheriff's officers declared today.

Matthews was said to have been riding south on Main street, he going home from his day's work, when Rueter's touring car cut the corner while turning from Main street into Bishop street, according to the report.

The motorcycle fell on the officer, crushing his left foot and cutting and bruising his leg. By-standers who picked up the motorcycle said that pieces of flesh and bone were clinging to the motor.

The motorcyclist was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital where it was reported that while amputation of the left foot seemed inevitable, an attempt would be made to save that member.

Matthews had been a state motorcycle officer here for five weeks.

Escondido Plans New Golf Course

ESCONDIDO, May 8.—Citizens of Escondido are making ready to celebrate the acquisition of a modern 9-hole golf course. This is only the beginning of a full course grounds in the near future.

The plan has been brewing for several months, and only survived the fate of "many well laid plans" through the determination of a few golf enthusiasts. The course embraces 160 acres of land, gently rolling, with a few natural hummocks and hills, lying about 2½ miles from the center of town, near the highway. The organization starts off with a paid up membership of eighty-four, and about as many more in prospect.

The course is being laid out by William Watson, the man who planned the grounds at Chula Vista, La Jolla, and a number of other popular grounds in California. Building of the greens will be under the direction of Mr. Deitrick, of the Coronado Country club. Building of the course is now under way.

SAYS BUILDING TO PROGRESS GRADUALLY

A slowing up of building activities throughout the nation in the near future is not unlikely, according to investigations now being made by S. W. Straus, president of S. W. Straus and company, report of which was made public here today. Even such a slowing up in construction operations, however, would not necessarily mean permanently lower building costs and cheaper rents, the financier declared.

"Throughout the nation as a whole," he said, "shortages of homes still remain, and if good judgment is exercised and a note of proper conservatism is allowed to prevail, building activities will still continue in large volume as a sustaining element to the general prosperity of the country."

"In 1913 building permits issued in the 100 leading cities of the country, with a combined population of 25,000,000 were $840,000. In terms of the 1913 dollar, this volume would mean building permits in these same cities at the present time of approximately $1,680,000,000. The population increase in these 100 cities since 1913 has been 25 per cent. On the 1913 basis, therefore, building operations should now be at the rate of $2,100,000,000 per year. But in 1923 these 100 cities had building permits of $2,825,000,000, and so far this year they have shown a further increase of about 12 per cent."

"Thus it will be seen that building operations have been proceeding on a basis above normal requirements, due to a great extent to the shortage created during the war. Other factors have, of course, had their effects on these relative comparisons, such as population migrations, and economy of space in the planning of buildings."

"In my opinion the substantial interests of the industry will take such steps as shall conserve our building necessities and keep the industry progressing along normal and sound lines."

"With regard to building costs, there will always be fluctuations due to temporary or local conditions, and price levels may sag to some extent. But it must be remembered that these costs are vitally affected by labor, transportation, taxation and various other economic factors in which immediate marked reductions are improbable. The advancing standards of living by the American people also exerts a powerful tendency toward higher costs, a condition which will not change because it is a fundamental of human nature."

Plan Industrial Dinner Today to Boosters of City

For the purpose of visioning Santa Ana's industrial future and of acquainting a group of Santa Ana boosters with the importance of the Standard American Glass company and the Ulmer Machinery corporation, which soon will be established in the central industrial district here, Robert E. Brown and his associates have planned an "industrial dinner" to be given at Ketner's cafe today at 6:15 p. m.

E. J. Williams, manager of the glass factory, and J. A. Ulmer, president of the pump corporation, will be speakers at the dinner. An interesting and educational program has been arranged.

BUYS PROPERTY TO DISTRIBUTE TILE, BRICK

That Carl L. Passmore of Los Angeles has completed arrangements for opening here a distributing yard for products of the Los Angeles Tile and Brick company, was revealed today when the announcement was made that he has purchased from E. Earhart the three acres at the northeast corner of Fruit street and the Santa Fe tracks, at a reported consideration of $20,000.

Freeman Bloodgood and John Newcomer were the agents in the sale of the property.

Passmore already has begun construction of an office building on the site. For the present approximately one acre of the ground will be used for the assembling and distributing of the products of the Los Angeles company. A walnut tree nursery is located on the remaining two acres and Passmore will not get possession for two years. At that time he will enlarge his yard, it was said.

Passmore has furnished the roofing for the new hall of records, the Y. M. C. A. building and a number of school buildings here. It is said these contracts were responsible for his becoming interested in this city and his conclusion to locate a yard here followed completion of these contracts.

LIQUOR, GLAND ORGY BRINGS DEATH TO 1

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Whether goat glands or liquor killed John E. Merton is perplexing Coroner J. Ray Keaton of San Rafael.

Merton, 26 and a P. G. and E. gas-maker, died at the Ross general hospital in San Rafael. His death revealed the story of an orgy at the home of Merton and three other men in El Verano, Sonoma county, on Easter Sunday, which ended in a barbaric sacrifice of a goat to the gods of eternal youth and the injection of the goat gland material into the bodies of the four youth-seekers.

Autopsy Performed.
An autopsy was performed on Merton's body by Coroner Keaton and Dr. H. G. Duffley of San Rafael, to whom the man went for treatment. The autopsy did not definitely fix the cause of death, and the man's vital organs were removed for further analysis.

On Easter Sunday Merton, his brother Charles, his step-brother, James Stephenson, and his step-father, John Waldo, foregathered in Merton's cottage at El Verano. They drank much, but the feature of the gathering was the killing, with gruesome ceremonies, of a big goat. The animals glands were removed and quartered. Then each man in turn injected the substance of the gland into his body.

Dies at Hospital.
There were no effects until Merton went to Dr. Duffley. Dr. Duffley sent him to the Ross general hospital for observation. Merton died. The other three men have experienced no effects whatever from their self-performed operation, they say.

CALIFORNIA LEADS IN REALTY BOARDS

There are more realtors in the state of California than in the three states of New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Illinois is the second state, having 1617 realtors, or about 42 per cent of the total in California. Florida has thirty real estate boards and stands second to California.

The state of California has eighty-eight national real estate boards, according to the annual Roster Number, just received from Chicago. There are a total of 3392 realtors listed from California, which is about 20 per cent of the entire number of realtors throughout the United States and Canada. California has more than 6500 active and associated board members, which constitute about 18 per cent of the entire membership of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Of the entire national boards of some 479, about 18 per cent are in the state of California. The phenomenal growth of the realty boards in California, according to President Henry P. Barbour, has been due to the aggressive campaign work of the California Real Estate association for the past three or four years.

LANDMARK GONE AS BIG PINES ARE FELLED

Two big pine trees, said to be two of the "oldest native sons" of Santa Ana, standing in the yard of the Barr Lumber company at 1022 East Fourth street, today had passed as landmarks in this city.

Plans of the lumber company are to put a fence around its property at the yard and dedicate it to the memory of the pines, it was stated by a representative.

"The pines were planted by the late W. H. Spurgeon, founder of Santa Ana, forty-eight years ago," said H. G. Larriek of the company. "They were planted in the front yard of the home of the founder and adorned the home place of the Father of Santa Ana" until 1898, when the property was sold to the Griffith Lumber company, predecessor of the Barr Lumber company.

"The company built its lumber yard and mill around the trees and they continued to thrive until they reached an unusual size for their specie."

"Like all living things the day of darkness comes and it became necessary to take them down, as their life-span had run its course. Fear was entertained that on account of decay in their fibre strength that they would be blown down in some high wind."

Garage, Apt. Bldg. Will Cost $3000

A garage with apartments above will be constructed this month at 505½ Cypress avenue, it was announced today by Frank Wolters, owner of the property. The approximate cost will be $3000, Wolters said.

Two Kinds of Gasoline Detonating—Non-Detonating

DIFFERENT gasolines explode in different ways. One kind delivers a single, crashing, instantaneous blow to the piston head.

It increases vibration.

It has a tendency to "knock."

And this explosion, spending its energy in one sudden detonation, lacks the full possibilities of the most effective power.

But there is another and better kind of explosion.

It is the more efficient kind from Union Non-Detonating Gasoline. These explosions are quick but extended. They exert power throughout the entire piston stroke.

So Union Gasoline doesn't cause "knocking" or vibration. It produces more power on hills.

There is a sort of series of overlapping explosions. This means a follow-through—more speed on the straight-away and a quicker, surer snap in the pick-up.

Therefore, Union Gasoline improves the operation of your motor just as though the motor itself were improved.

You feel the difference at the wheel. You find new pleasure in motoring and increased pride in your car.

These are results worth while. Test them yourself. You will recognize the difference in a mere two days' driving—fifty miles.

Try it today. Fill your tank with Union Non-Detonating Gasoline and use it unmixed with any other kind to know how smoothly and powerfully your motor can perform.

With the nine-week season more than three-fourths completed, the championship of the Santa Ana Business Men's Bowling league today was still "up in the air."

Coming up from the ranks with a rush, Schroeder's pharmacy team at the Broadway Academy last night sprang into second place and became a dangerous contender for titular honors by whipping the strong Robertson Electric company quintette 4 to 0. In so doing the drug store aggregation rolled in their second fracas a 905, one of the best competition marks of the season.

Fred Robertson, with 205, and Schroeder, with 220, were high point men.

The opening of the seventh week in the Commercial league brought the Pacific Ready Cuts into prominence as a possible set of champs. The Home-Builders smashed the Crawford Advertising agency 4 to 0, none of the games being close.

The feature game of the season is expected to result tonight when the Standard Oil company and the Santa Ana Realty board, the two leading fives in the circuit, clash.

Tommy Gibbons Opens Training For Carpentier

CHICAGO, May 8.—Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, who will meet Georges Carpentier at Michigan City May 31, is drawing capacity crowds at a local gymnasium where he is going through his elementary training program.

Gibbons surprised spectators yesterday by stepping through ten fast rounds—five each with two sparring partners. The St. Paul boxer appeared to have plenty of wind and was far from tired when he finished the day's work.

Jack Curley, American representative of the French idol, is on his way to New York to meet Carpentier on his arrival from France. Curley has selected Peek-in-Cottage at Sheridan Beach as training quarters for the Frenchman.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

"He's beginning to grow up now and he's in shape. You just watch him go this year," Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, said when asked about the Babe's prospects for the 1924 season.

"Ruth always will be a boy at heart," he said. "He wouldn't be what he is if he had lost the enthusiasm, the temperament and the viewpoint of a youth. He's getting more serious now about his future, and that is what I meant by saying that he is beginning to grow up."

Up until last year the Babe acted like a boy who didn't realize that the land of plenty, in which he was living, was not permanent. He had plenty of money and he spent it all on friends who were eager to help him in the spending.

In the parlance of Broadway, he was a "check-grabber." He couldn't understand why he should not be permitted to pay all the freight and be a good fellow when he was on parties with the gang. He found himself broke, saw himself in the light of a sucker and he quit it.

After he had fought Jack Dempsey in Shelby last summer and failed to get a cent for staying fifteen rounds with the world's champion, a friend remarked to Tom Gibbons that it was hard luck on him.

"It's not my bad luck," Gibbons replied, "it's bad luck for my wife and my three little boys. It would have been their money, not mine. I have enough to take care of myself, but it is my duty to provide for them."

The Babe did, say anything like that last fall, but he did something that meant just as much. When the season closed he called Harry Hellman, star Detroit outfielder, who had beaten him out for the American League batting championship.

"Take out the old papers, Harry, I want to buy some insurance," When he is not working at baseball, Hellman is an insurance salesman, and a good one, too. He drew out the application blank and Babe said:

"Gimme one for $50,000."

As might be expected, he passed the physical examination and was accepted by the company for the full amount of the application.

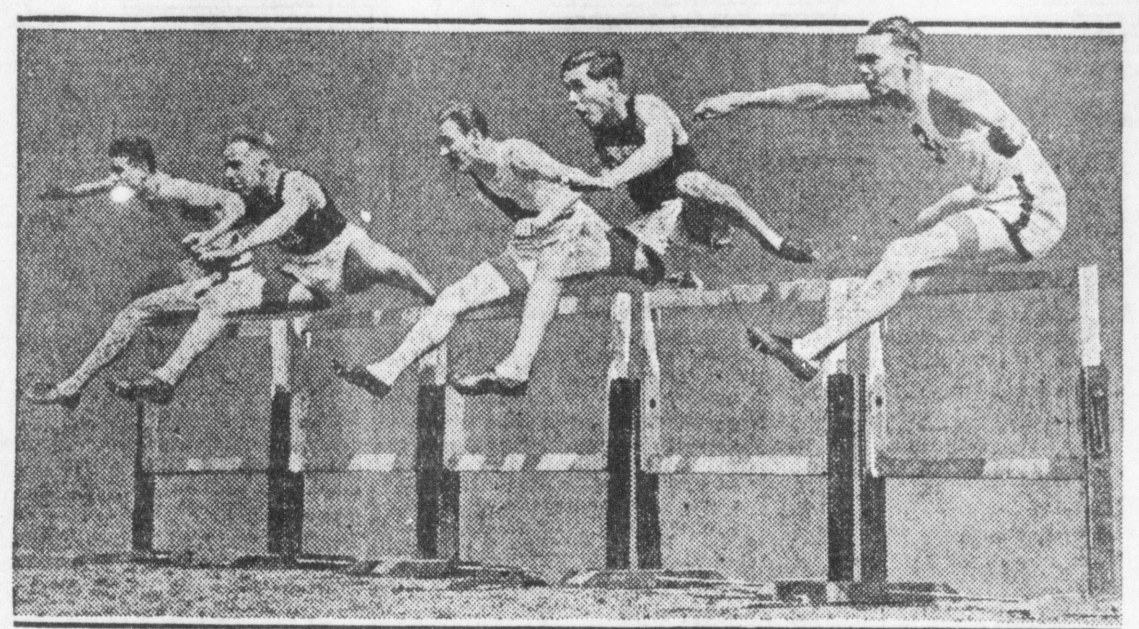

When the policy had been turned over to him, the Babe let out a big sigh and said: "Now, I feel a whole lot better. There's sure to be something for the wife and little Dorothy when I leave."

That, perhaps, was one of the demonstrations that Ruth gave his manager as the symptoms of growing up.

The Babe still retains his temperament, but as soon as he loses that he will be close to the end of his career.

He is not the fiery, petulant Babe who jumped into the stand two years ago and ran out of the place the loud-mouthed rooster who

QUINT ROMERO IN U. S. DEBUT FRIDAY

Floyd Johnson Gets First Crack at S. America's New Ring Hope

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, May 8.—Quintin Romero, Chilean heavyweight champion, who was picked by Tex Rickard to humiliate Luis Angel Firpo, will have the build-up started on him tomorrow night when he meets Floyd Johnson, Iowa, in Madison Square Garden.

Romero signed a contract with Rickard to submit to three tests which would prove what chance he had to give South America a second crack at the world's heavyweight championship.

Rickard said today that if Romero defeats Johnson he will be sent against Jack Renault, Canadian champion, in a bout at the Velodrome June 21, and if he survives that bout he will be asked to put Harry Wills out of the running for a match with Dempsey.

Romero, in his training for the Johnson contest, has failed to impress the critics and the prediction is being made freely that his career as another South American hope will be short-lived.

Romero is strong but he knows no more of the fine points of boxing than Firpo. He handles his hands better on the defense than Angel and his foot work is a little better. He has not had a chance yet to show what kind of a heart he has.

Critics who saw Romero fighting in Paris said his greatest asset were his courage and his ability to stand up under any kind of punishment. He was also said to possess a very heavy right hand.

Johnson is no great hitter and Romero, unless he is a terrible bust, should be able to take anything thrown at him, as he seems to be in good physical condition.

called him a bum, but he is still the Babe who takes everything to heart and who broods when things are not going right.

In one of the pre-season exhibition games with the Brooklyn Robins, he objected to a decision given by Umpire Clarence Rowland and he found that Rowland wagged one of the most cutting tongues in the league. Rowland hurt the Babe's feelings, and he sulked all through the game like a schoolboy. He loafed in the field and loafed on the bases, but he succeeded in getting it all out of his system.

SHORT SPORTS

Jack Quinn's wild pitch in the eleventh inning let in the run that gave the Senators a 5 to 4 victory over the Red Sox.

Woehrs, Phil third baseman, tried for a double play in the tenth instead of throwing to the plate and Kelly scored the run that broke the tie and gave the Giants a 4 to 2 victory.

Herb Penneck was knocked out of the box in the ninth but Waite Hoyt stopped the uprising and the Yanks beat the Athletics 7 to 4. It was the ninth straight loss for the A's.

One pass, a sacrifice and a single, scored the only run the Robins were able to get off Rube Marquard and the Braves won, 4 to 1.

Coveleskie was knocked out of the box in the first inning and the Browns beat the Indians, 10 to 8.

The Cubs pounded five Pirate pitchers and won 5 to 1.

NEW YORK—Sarazen, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's three year old, will not start in the Kentucky Derby, Max Hirsch, trainer of the stable, announced. He said the gelding was not in condition to race.

NEW YORK—French Olympic officials will question the legality of the jumping form of Harold Osborn, America's great high jumper, according to notice served on the American Olympic committee. The decision will rest with the five members of the International American Athletic federation.

CHICAGO — Stanislaus Zbyszko, giant Pole, defeated Toots Mondt, Colorado, in their finish wrestling match here last night. Zbyszko took the first and third falls, the last on a foul.

Three weeks of the Orange County Harbor Bowling league's season were history today and the Western Auto Supply company and the Certified Car market teams were out in front with such a considerable margin that their followers said they were as good as "in."

The automobile parts outfit, led by Jack Campbell, retained its top post by trouncing "Red" Angell's Pen Pushers 3 to 1 at the A. and B. alleys last night.

McPike got away with an even 200 pins in his second game and scored high for the winners during the evening wit 515 but Clare Friers knocked off 532 and garnered premier honors for the skirmish.

Opening the week's work in the new Boosters' circuit, Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, captured a 3 to 1 decision from the Kelly Roofing company. Horace Snow's 517 was high for the World War veterans while Van Dam's sensational rolling in his last two games gave him a splendid total of 567, the best card turned in at the A. and B. last night.

OPEN BASEBALL CAMPAIGN ON HOME FIELD

Oscar Spencer Slated For Mound Duty; Teams to Tangle at 3:30

Santa Ana high school's baseball team, cuffed and kicked about in its first two Tri-County league starts and already out of the running for championship honors, makes its first stand at home tomorrow afternoon with Pasadena high school as the guest.

Bumped off unceremoniously at Long Beach, 10 to 2, and dragged through a knot-hole at San Diego, 13 to 0, the local club enters the contest with nothing to lose and everything to gain.

Head Coach Ed Covington announced today that the nines would square off promptly at 3:30 o'clock. Since it is the first tilt of importance this season on the Poly lot a good sized crowd is expected.

Despite its defeat at San Diego, Coach Reed's troupe showed more class and played far better baseball than it did at Long Beach the previous Saturday. The team is composed almost entirely of new men from the under classes and naturally they have plenty to learn.

Oscar Spencer, the blonde haired lad who jumped into prominence last fall by his feats at halfback for the Poly football eleven, will start on the slab. Spencer is a left-hander and probably the best marksman on the Santa Ana list. If he has trouble fooling the Pasadena stickers, Rister, another southpaw, will be ready to go to the turret.

Middlebrook is slated to catch with "Beano" Golden at first base. Norton at second, Daley at third and Bowe at shortstop. McLain, English and Hurd Hild will get the suburban assignments.

HIS BROTHERS WIFE

by RUDY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves an unhappy one. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly under the care of Mary Fumival. Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old sweet-heart, named Robert Durham. Dolly and Robert sail for America and would come of the sinking of their ship.

When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary, she is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David mistakes Mary for his brother's wife and asks her to come to live at Red Grange with him and his aunt. Mary when she comes to Red Grange, Mary tells the aunt, Miss Varney, that nobody else loved Nigel as Mary loved him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"I think I understand; and I think you would if you had seen David as I did late that night—the first night we came back here. I heard a sound along the corridor, and I came out of my room to see what it was, and there was David going down to the picture gallery. I followed him, and I found him standing in front of the portrait of Nigel, and his face—oh, you wouldn't have said he didn't care any more if you had seen his face as I did!"

Mary said nothing. There was a leaping pulse in her throat that seemed to be choking her, but she tried to smile, meeting the elder woman's wistful gaze.

"I suppose we don't all feel things the same way," she said brokenly. "It's just that, isn't it?" She rose to her feet with a little weary gesture. "I wonder if I might go to bed?" she said, half apologetically. "I feel so tired. Would you think it very rude of me?"

Miss Varney rose at once. She blamed herself for her thoughtlessness.

"Poor child! Of course you are tired."

She went up to the girl's room with her. She kissed her most affectionately as she said good night.

"Sleep well, my dear, and try and believe that there is plenty of sunshine in life for you still."

Mary smiled rather quiveringly.

"I'll try," she said.

But when the door had shut on Miss Varney's kindly face, she went over to the window and looked drearily out into the darkness.

There was no moon and no stars but the wind was waving the dark branches of the trees, and sighing restlessly.

And Mary thought of the woman and child who had been driven out into that very road by the relentless hand of the Bretherton they had deceived, to meet death, and a little shiver shook her.

CHAPTER XXV
At The Red Grange

MARY FURNIVAL woke the next morning to find Miss Varney at her bedside; she started up with a little exclamation.

"Is it very late? Oh, I am so sorry!"

She glanced apprehensively at the little clock on the mantelshelf; it pointed to ten.

A distressed flush colored her cheeks.

"Oh, I am so sorry! I had no idea it was so late. I never sleep on like this."

Miss Varney laughed.

"I am glad you have, my dear; you looked worn out last night; I told them not to disturb you. Have you had a good night?"

Mary looked rueful.

"Much too good, I'm afraid. I will get up at once."

"They're bringing your breakfast up to you. The fire has been lit already, you see; it shows how soundly you slept."

"It seems impossible!"

Mary had been so sure that she would not be able to sleep at all, and now for nearly twelve hours she had slept dreamlessly.

A smiling maid brought her breakfast, and set it on a small table close to the fire. It was all most daintily served; the little teapot was silver; the tray cloth of fine linen, embroidered with the Bretherton crest.

Mary looked at everything with a sort of awe. She had been used to such plain homeliness all her life. There was something luxurious and delightful in this new daintiness of surroundings.

She enjoyed her meal thoroughly; she felt new energy and anticipation thrilling her as she dressed. The dullness of yesterday had gone; the sun was shining; sparrows twittered to each other in the ivy that covered the face of the old house.

She went down the wide staircase wondering what the day would bring forth. In the hall she met David Bretherton; he stopped when he saw her, and held out his hand.

"Aunt Florence tells me that you have broken the record for a long sleep," he said, smiling. "I hope you feel all the better for it."

She flushed a little.

"I am afraid you must all think me horribly lazy; I am always up so early, as a rule. And on such a fine morning, too!"

"Would you like to go out? I am just going round the gardens; will you come with me?"

"I should love to." She was all eagerness to see the well-remembered places; she would rather revisit them with David than anyone, seeing that she could never walk there again with his brother.

A momentary wave of sadness swept through her heart as she went back upstairs for a hat and coat. It seemed, somehow, a mockery to be glad that the sun shone, and that she should be here at Red Grange, when one remembered that lonely grave somewhere in France, and the horrors that were daily being enacted there.

But one cannot be altogether sad when the sun is shining, and before she had gone far with David she found herself chatting and talking with him almost happily.

"Aren't you very proud of your beautiful home, I think it must be a fine one, don't you?"

By Owner, at your service.

INTEREST IN BAND CONCERT INCREASES

Steadily mounting interest was said today to be evinced in the first formal concert which the Santa Ana Municipal band of approximately sixty musicians will present at the high school auditorium here Tuesday night.

"The program, as recently announced, combines popular and classical numbers in such happy fashion that it is certain to have a wide appeal," said D. C. Clanton, director.

The fact that John Ardizoni, prominent dramatic baritone of Los Angeles, has been procured as an added feature is evoking much favorable comment among local music lovers, it was said.

EVENING SALUTATION

Without knowledge there can be no sure progress. Vice and barbarism are the inseparable companions of ignorance. Nor is it too much to say that, except in rare instances, the highest virtue is attained only through intelligence. — Charles Sumner.

PUSILANIMOUS POLITICS

Without regard to the fate of the "Mellon Plan" for the revision of Federal income tax schedules, and wholly aside from any question of the guilt or innocence of any of the other investigators at Washington, one is impelled to protest against the political pusillanimity of the attempt to involve Secretary Mellon.

The chief attack upon Mellon is the charge that he owns stock in corporations which have had some federal taxes refunded or reduced. Upon this fact there is based the innuendo that there is something irregular about the whole proceeding.

Corporations having very prominent Democrats in the capacity of stockholders and directors have had their federal taxes reduced or taxes illegally collected refunded without any rising to insinuate that there was something crooked about the transaction.

There has been nothing brought out to justify in the remotest degree any charge that Secretary Mellon himself, directly or indirectly, used any influence with the income tax bureau to have an adjustment of the federal taxes levied against corporations in which he held stock or that these corrections and refunds would not have been made had Mr. Mellon not held the office of Secretary of the Treasury.

In other words, the attack upon Secretary Mellon is the basest kind of demagoguery. It is a part of the campaign of abuse which is being waged against any one who has accumulated any wealth and is the owner of any property.

Attacks of this character, coming with increasing frequency, are a part of a well organized campaign that is being carried on from some pulpits, from the platform, and through the columns of many newspapers to arouse the suspicion and hatred of those who have not against those who have. It is a part and parcel of the propaganda that is being conducted in an effort to make the average man believe he is the victim of an "invisible government" in control of rich and corrupt influences.

Some of those who engage in this campaign are merely cheap politicians. Some are demagogues, even though they control newspapers or stand in the pulpit. Others are vicious. All are destructive, and if permitted to continue their work unchallenged will succeed in bringing about a state of public mind that will constitute a grave menace to the stability of the American government.

THE SUMMER'S OUTLOOK

Orange county farmers are giving much attention just now to preparations for handling their summer work. Many of them are looking ahead to the busiest season they have had in years.

That is particularly true of the bean growers, whose prospects for a big crop are better this year than they have been in a number of years.

Valencia oranges are moving to markets. This is a crop that from now until November will be active. This crop means employment for many hundreds of pickers and packers. If prices are what they ought to be, valencia growers will find the season satisfactory for the crop is heavy.

Much of the hay and grain will make better yields than had been expected even a month ago. The long dry period in the middle of winter—if the word "winter" may be used in reference to the weeks of sunshine that we had at that time—came near being fatal to many fields of barley, but most of those fields have valiantly made up for the late start.

"The finest grass we have had in years," is the way an El Toro stockman explained the outlook in the foothills.

Walnut growers have been irrigating their orchards, allowing the water to soak deep beneath the surface, and have thus been preparing the trees for a big crop.

So, in orchard and in field, the growers are busy, and the feeling, in general, is one of optimism. The disposition is to hope for the best, and keep on the job. That disposition has made Orange county farmers successful.

LOST SAVINGS

Recently a large industrial concern asked its employees to tell confidentially whether they had ever lost money in fraudulent investments. It was found that over half of those men and women with moderate incomes had been tempted and stung by "get-rich-quick" propositions of one sort or another. A not inconsiderable sum of money had been lost to the group of employees through their own foolishness.

Most of these wage-earners had been making enough to have set by small savings regularly. The same money they had put into fake investments might have been used for the purchase of reliable securities. Impatience, ignorance and a preference for the "line" of the glib promoter, rather than the advice of the reliable broker or banker, had led them to throw away money which might have been used to much better advantage.

Perhaps money lost on fake stocks or other get-rich-quick schemes may be considered well spent if it buys helpful experience. Too often, however, the person who has fallen for one fictitious "sure thing" will fall likewise for the next one that is plausibly presented to him.

IRRESPONSIBLE RULERS

A good many Americans must have rubbed their eyes incredulously as they read the chorus of praise which went up for Charles F. Murphy after his death, and the complimentary things said of Tammany Hall, which he controlled for so many years.

The wonder is natural. It is necessary, in a case like this, to analyze the thing. Murphy has been praised because he possessed many real virtues, as a man and leader, and often used his power for a good purpose. Kind words have been spoken of Tammany, even by its enemies, because under Murphy it has improved considerably, being not only a human institution, as it always was, but a more honest institution than it used to be. Murphy seldom tolerated graft, at least of any direct and flagrant sort, and in his later years often placed excellent and able men in office.

It is well, however, not to let such considerations blind one to the essential evil involved in the career of even the least objectionable man ruling alone over a powerful political organization. Bossism is none the less vicious in itself because a particular boss may at times perform genuine public service. As the New York World has well said, "The evil of that system lies not in the character of the boss but in the fact that the party machine was dominated by a man who never had to face the test of popular election."

Irresponsible power is always bad, for this very reason. Free government is no longer free when candidates and policies are determined by political masters who hold no public office and possess no public credentials. If there are to be political bosses, they should be elected by free, open choice of the people, and retired likewise when the people cease to want them.

Twelve Millions a Year

San Bernardino Sun

That splendid total is to be the return from the gasoline tax in California for the first year. When the Legislature considered the tax a year ago, and the estimates ran from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000, it hardly seemed possible that realization would bring such a vast sum in cash, at the rate of two cents a gallon. But the tax has been in effect more than six months and the figures are now available for that period, and the total tops $12,000,000. The figures for the first three months of this year, January-March, show $3,047,679.

There's the solution of the highway building fund of the future, and we doubt if this state votes any more highway bonds. Instead, what is a much better and more economical plan will be to increase the gasoline tax to three cents, and let the state keep at least two-thirds of the total collected, to use on the maintenance of the present highways and the construction of new ones. Out of a three-cent gasoline tax, the state's share would now be over $12,000,000, on a two-thirds basis, and increase in the number of cars will within a year or two boost that total up to $15,000,000 a year. With $15,000,000 the State Highway Commission could maintain present roads and put some millions a year into new ones, and gradually complete the state system, without another bond issue. The saving in interest would be great, and the money would be provided steadily and as required. Let's go.

Dictating to Posterity

Visalia Delta

A rich Philadelphia banker died 93 years ago leaving an estate of $5,200,000 and a will providing that his entire fortune should be used to care for and to educate orphan or half-orphan boys. So far, so good. But the banker proceeded to tie entangling strings to his bequest. He limited the number of boys who should benefit by his will to 1,600 at a time.

The estate has now grown to such great proportions that it is far more than enough to care for 1,600 boys, and it is still piling up in great amounts that can never be used for other orphan boys beyond the number fixed, or for any other useful purpose.

The trustees have done their best to spend the money according to the will. They have put up very fine buildings for the 1,600. They maintain a faculty that allows one teacher to every three and one-half students. But they cannot spend the annual income. Each year the surplus is added to the principal, and no one now can say what the final outcome will be.

This is no argument against providing for orphan boys or for any other persons or causes that are worthy. It is a strong argument against trying to foresee all the future and to dictate to posterity how it shall spend the money you leave to it.

Intellectual Chemistry

Stockton Independent

It is refreshing to find occasionally an individual who has the ability (or willingness) to judge people fairly—to be aware of their virtues as well as their shortcomings. A case in point is that of a local woman who in her complaint for divorce from a husband with whom she cannot live harmoniously, states "the defendant has many good qualities."

The incident calls to mind the statement of that eminent biographer, Boswell, who wrote: "I have ever delighted in that intellectual chemistry which can separate good qualities from evil in the same person."

Applied to the personal relations of life intellectual chemistry would place all the ties of family, friendship and love upon the very highest plane and it would lend dignity and fairness even to those misunderstandings which are unavoidable; instead of bitter criticisms and recriminations there would be a setting forth of the real facts of the case—both good and bad.

But in the wider field of religion, politics, racial differences, national characteristics, the ability to separate and find in each the component parts of good and evil would serve to make public opinion less hostile on most subjects; more nearly just in its conclusions; more tolerant in its sympathies.

The chemistry of understanding would do much to make life richer and the world better.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

FALSE PLEURISY

I remember distinctly in my student days a case where a patient thought she had pleurisy. There was a severe burning pain on the left side of her chest near the heart, which seemed to get much worse if she took a long breath. One physician came in and after listening carefully with his stethoscope and taking the temperature, declared that it was not pleurisy.

The patient was so annoyed that she dismissed him and called another. He likewise diagnosed it as not being pleurisy. He was also dismissed. The third physician was called and after the patient recited her symptoms, and how it had been necessary to dismiss the two previous physicians, he proceeded to examine her.

Asking her to take a long breath and inquiring whether that increased the pain, the patient said that it did. "That is certainly like pleurisy," he said. He then asked her to cough and, as she stated that coughing increased the pain, he again said, "That also is like pleurisy."

He said no more, but applied the old fashioned mustard plaster, and the patient was well in two or three days. And he was considered a clever physician. In recounting the case to a class of students later, he said:

"Now this woman did not have pleurisy, and I didn't say she did have it. She had what is known as Pleurodynia, or false pleurisy. This is simply a painful affection of the muscles of the chest. It might be anywhere else in the body where there is muscle, and that is practically everywhere."

"It was useless to argue with her. She was in pain, and knowing a little about pleurisy, she had her mind made up that pleurisy was her trouble. My stethoscope revealed no 'rubbing' as in pleurisy, and my thermometer showed no temperature. Without being called upon to give a diagnosis, I proceeded to treat the case as you would treat a muscular pain anywhere, that is by the application of heat. And so, if you have a pain over the heart or in the chest that acts as did the pleurisy mentioned above, simply apply heat. In true pleurisy absolute rest of the part should be advised, and the patient warned not to cough, if it is at all possible to refrain."

How Civilized Are You?

Our Dumb Animals

Don't be afraid of the question. It is easy to answer. The finest representatives of civilization are by no means found among the so-called cultivated and educated classes. Civilization depends upon what we call progress far less than many think.

Here's the heart of the matter: What is your attitude toward the various forms of life about you? Men, women and children, the beasts of the field, the birds of the air, the four-footed inmates of the home—these are the things, if I may use the word, your treatment of which will tell how civilized you are, far more than your relation to bonds and banks or books or estates, or even that highly exalted thing men call "society."

The most perfect example of the most perfect civilization was a man who had never been to college, who was ostracized by nearly all the social leaders of his day, who even had no place to lay his head. This man, by his spirit, his life of love, kindness, good will, justice, compassion, stands today, two thousand years since he came among us, humanity's ideal of what is highest and finest in the only civilization wholly worth the name.

How civilized am I? Nothing answers the question more accurately than my treatment of my fellows, my sympathy or lack of it, with all those lowly forms of life about me with their capacity for pleasure and pain. Just so far as I have achieved my ends at the cost of human kindness, in disregard of the rights of other sentient beings, by so much am I uncivilized and back in those far-off ages when might made right, and force, not love, claimed empire over men.—Our Dumb Animals.

Worth While Verse

GOOD LIFE, LONG LIFE

It is not growing like a tree
In bulk, doth make man better be.
Or standing long an oak, three hundred year,
To fall a log at last, dry, bald and sear.
A lily of a day
Is fairer far, in May,
Although it fall and die that night,
It was the plant and flower of light!
In small proportions we just beauties see;
And in short measures life may perfect be.

—Ben Jonson.

The most expensive gift on earth is the gift of gab. They say snakes will not bite in water, and a disgusted fisherman tells us fish will not either. Being stung by a bee is considered good for rheumatism. Being stung by a quack doctor is considered bad. The hard thing about making money last is making money first. Lots of birds think they are wise as owls because they are always hooting at something. After all is said and done the trouble in Washington right now is more is being said than done. Electricity travels 11,600,000 miles a minute, arriving just 59 seconds behind bad news. In the annual spring drive of motorists against trains no train casualties have been reported so far. Source of Coolidge's Strength

From the New York Times

Evidence that President Coolidge is popular throughout the country has now accumulated in such a mass as to convince even the most incredulous. The large vote cast for him in the western primaries was an eye-opener to many. They had admitted that he was strong in the East, but it was a surprise and special wonder to them when he proceeded to lead the field in North Dakota, and easily to carry Michigan, Illinois, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

And now we may add Indiana and California.—Ed. Register. It is true that his interests in those states were carefully looked after by skilled managers. Mr. Coolidge is himself not negligible as a practical politician, and values organized work. But no organization, however cleverly set up, could have accounted for the victories mentioned. In Illinois, for example, the vote cast at the primaries was unusually heavy, and the overwhelming majority given to the President is proof positive that his candidacy makes a wide and strong appeal.

He has few of the popular arts which made President Roosevelt such a dashing figure. He does not command the audacity or the gift of taking speech which won for President Wilson so great a following. And the American people had so long been accustomed to showy or shining qualities in their candidates for the Presidency, had so long been supposed to be always waiting for somebody to thrill or inflame them, that it would have seemed antecedently altogether unlikely that they would ever respond to such a leadership as Mr. Coolidge has offered them. Yet we have the unquestioned fact that they have shown a great liking for him; nothing uproarious or superlative, but a steadily growing trust in him and endorsement of the way in which he has been handling himself during a testing period.

For one thing, they have noted that he is a hard worker. He has stuck to his job and sought to master it. Day after day, through summer's heat and winter's cold, they have seen him put aside invitations to leave Washington and hold himself to the exacting work of his office in the spirit of a man who had made the country's business his first concern and chief absorption.

It is not a bad sign that the people approve an executive of this sort. Perhaps they feel that the excitement and clamors of previous years were somewhat overdone. At any rate, that kind of living at high political pressure was tiring. If only by way of contrast and as a means of recuperation, the quieter methods of Mr. Coolidge may have seemed to his countrymen peculiarly grateful at this time. The fact of his being calm, unemotional, reserved, cautious, deliberate in decision as well as sparing in speech, has not argued a lack of breadth of view or fruitful study of the nation's chief needs at the present day, or courage in announcing and maintaining convictions arrived at by mature thought. Here again, we have in the President traits not fitted to stir the passions of the crowd, but well adapted to

To Be Remembered

Consider what you have in the smallest chosen library. A company of the wisest and wittiest men that could be picked out of all civil countries in a thousand years have set in best order the results of their learning and wisdom. The men themselves were hid and inaccessible, solitary, but the thought which they did uncover to their bosom friends is here written out in transparent words to us, the strangers of another age. We owe to books those general benefits which come from high intellectual action. Thus, I think, we often owe to them the perception of immortality.—Emerson.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 21—THE QUEEN AND THE CHESHIRE CAT

The Twins loved a story, so the next day Mister Mugs took them to see Alice again, and to hear more about her adventures the time she went to Wonderland by way of the rabbit hole. "After you left the tea-party, where did you go?" asked Nick, when they were all seated in the orchard, and Alice and Nancy had started to make daisy chains.

"Oh, dear Alice," that was funny," laughed Alice. "I went to the palace of the King and Queen of Hearts. They were made of cards and all their servants were cards. It was very amusing. And three gardeners were trying to paint some roses on a rose-bush red, because they had made a mistake and planted white ones against the queen's orders."

"When the queen saw it she cried, 'Off with their heads,' but I hid all of the gardeners in a flower-pot, so they were safe." "It must have been a queer place! Was the queen nice to you?" asked Nick.

"Sort of," sighed Alice. She asked me a silly question and when I said, 'How should I know?' she cried 'Off with her head!' It seemed to be the only thing she knew."

"I don't call that polite," remarked Nancy. "And did they?" "See for yourself!" said Alice, wagging her head hard. "I said 'Nonsense' quite firmly, and it silenced her. Not another word did the queen say about it. Before she knew it she was asked to play croquet. Do you know how?"

"Oh, yes!" said Nick. "We have a set at home. We knock wooden balls through wire arches with long wooden mallets. It's loads of fun!" "This was a far different game," said Alice, "although it was the same thing. Our balls were hedgehogs and our mallets were large pink flamingoes. I had a dreadful time with mine, for no sooner would I get my body nicely tucked under my arm and his neck straightened out to hit the ball, when he would twist around and look me in such a queer way I had to laugh."

"When I got things fixed up again, the hedgehog had crawled away. It was a queer game. Nobody took turns and everybody quarreled. The queen kept saying 'Off with his head' or 'Off with her head' at a dreadful rate. I really grew alarmed. So I wandered away and came across the Cheshire Cat. He was just ahead, you know, and grinned all the time."

"How do you like the queen?" asked the Cheshire Cat. I waited until his ears appeared before I answered, for he wasn't quite complete. He had a habit of appearing and disappearing that was most surprising."

"Not a bit," I answered. "She is so—' But I saw that the queen was listening. 'Likely to wia,' I went on, although that wasn't what I had intended to say at all!"

"That's a good girl," said the queen, and gave me a pat. Wonderland was a great place and I enjoyed it. I should like to go back."

"That was a fine story and we're ever so much obliged," said Mister Mugs. "Say goodbye, children, and come along. We must be going."

"Goodbye," said Alice. "I hope you can go to Wonderland some day."
